Ex-GI Accused Of Giving Reds U.S. Passports

CHICAGO (AP) — A former Army private has been charged with delivering 15 United States passports to Soviet agents in East Berlin.

Paul Carl Meyer, 25, was arrested Tuesday by federal marshals in the $95-a-month apartment he and his wife Yolanda had rented Monday.

A federal grand jury indictment charged him with four counts of violating the federal passport law.

If convicted, Meyer could be imprisoned a maximum of 20 years and fined $8,000. Meyer, employed by a news distributing company, was jailed on $2,500 bond. No date was set for his arraignment.

U. S. Atty. Edward V. Hanrahan said that Meyer induced 15 persons into securing the passports from the State Department's Chicago office in November 1962.

Hanrahan said the tall, mustachioed Meyer talked the 15 into joining a prospecting venture in South America. They obtained passports which Meyer convinced them would be safer in his possession, Hanrahan said. Then, Hanrahan added, Meyer turned the passports over to Russians in East Berlin in February 1963.

Hanrahan would not say what the Russians did with the documents nor did the indictment. Those who allegedly applied for the passports were not indicted.

Hanrahan said Meyer, father of a 7-month-old daughter, taught English and prospected in Ecuador in 1961 and 1962, sometimes under the assumed names of R. McGinn and James Springer. He was a private in the Army from July 1963 to July 1964.

Meyer dropped out of high school in suburban Park Ridge in 1957 after three years.

His dean of students, Milo Johnson, who is now school principal, said: "There was nothing outstanding about him in any way. He was not a disciplinary problem, and he was just an average student."

The Justice Department in Washington and Marlin W. Johnson, special agent in charge of the Chicago FBI office, declined comment on the case.

Neither Meyer nor his attorney could be reached for comment.

The four-count indictment charges Meyer fraudulently obtained the passports, fraudulently used one to identify himself at a hotel in Madrid, Spain, Dec. 23, 1962, and twice fraudulently used one to purchase travelers checks.

The indictment did not say how Meyer got to East Berlin or what he was doing there.

DEAR ABBY: What makes people, who can ill afford to spend the money, pick up a telephone and make a long-distance call that comes to 15 or 20 dollars, when they can write a letter for only a few cents? We know many people like that.

DEAR IRRITATED: And so does everyone else. Some folks, of course, are just too lazy to write. But I suspect that the majority of the "I'd-rather-call-than-write" breed are unable to write an adequate letter. I am not knocking the long distance telephone, but more people had better learn to spell and write correctly, and attempt to express themselves with the written word, or the art of letter writing will eventually be lost.

Dear Abby--

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

You've Done It, Mom!

DEAR ABBY: A woman with a nice sounding voice telephoned me and asked if I had a daughter by the name of—let's call her "Marcia." I said yes I had. Then she said that if Marcia did not leave her son alone

there was going to be trouble.

She said her son is a married man with a family, and Marcia is running after him. The two were together, it seems, and this woman said everyone at work is talking and it could cost her son

a half hour.

And he did just that.

Only seconds later, my neighbor came bursting through my back door without knocking.

Well, I don't recommend this to cure a nervy neighbor of not knocking, but it certainly cured

mine. —MRS. S.P.P., CHARLES-TON, S.C.

Johnson Back To Dance in White House

By FRANCES LEWINE
 WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson proved he is back in the swing of things — dancing at the White House again.

Others in his Cabinet are still ill, but Johnson showed no signs of his recent cold Tuesday night as he delivered a toast in champagne, lectured a newsman for a half hour and then danced until 1 a.m.

For critics who thought he might have slighted Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey by not including him in the official U.S. delegation to Sir Winston Churchill's funeral, Johnson offered this champagne salute: "A man who is valuable to our nation and invaluable to me."

Humphrey danced past midnight.

Johnson entertained 176 guests at a state dinner honoring "three great offices and three great Americans" — the vice president, House Speaker John McCormack and Chief Justice Earl Warren.

In former days, it was traditional to give each of these officials a separate dinner, but Johnson declared the three-in-one event symbolized unity and close accord in the executive, legislative and judicial branches of government.

The honored guests seemed to approve.

It was "a friendly family gathering" in Justice Warren's words.

The participants ranged from Harvard Law School Dean Erwin N. Griswold, to former baseball star Jackie Robinson.

Johnson exulted that Justice Hugo Black at age 79 had played two games of tennis Tuesday morning.

Two More Photo Rangers To Be Sent on Moon Trips

Last October Macapagal told the National Press Club in Washington that free Asian nations should help South Viet Nam defend itself against Communist aggression.

He also said two months earlier "it is heartbreaking that the United States, under President Lyndon B. Johnson, has shown its determination to resist Communist aggression in our region."

The Communist Viet Cong already has launched its guerrilla war against South Viet Nam when the United States first sent military aid to the Saigon government. In early 1962 the number of U.S. troops in South Viet Nam was increased from a handful to 4,000. The number now is 23,000.

Sukarno said, referring to the United States, "You are those who make trouble. We want to be let alone. Never interfere in our own affairs. Only through this way can we achieve peace throughout the world."

The Indonesian president, who last month led his country out of the United Nations, said the Indonesian and Communist Chinese revolutions have similar goals: "to drive away imperialism from this world."

"The integration of the Indonesian and Chinese revolutions will bring prosperity in Asia and peace in the world," he declared.

Sukarno recalled that Indonesia has staged a confrontation against the Dutch—Indonesia's colonizers—and then against the British-backed Malaysians.

"Now I call on you to stage a confrontation against our weakness. Now that we have quit the United Nations, we should be able to stand on our own feet, never be dependent on others' aid."

In Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia's Deputy Prime Minister Tun Abdul Razak called on Indonesian Moslem leaders to work for peace with his country.

"We are not against the Indonesian people, most of whom are Moslems. We are only against the Communist-controlled Indonesian leaders who want to crush us," Razak said.

Taylor and Khanh have had sharp differences.

Bundy, 47, a former dean of arts and science at Harvard University, served as a foreign policy adviser to President John F. Kennedy. This is his first trip to Viet Nam.

Traveling with Bundy were Lt. Gen. Andrew Goodpaster, representing the Joint Chiefs of Staff; Chester Cooper, White House adviser on Far Eastern affairs; Asst. Secretary of Defense John McNaughton, in charge of international security affairs; and Leonard Unger, former ambassador to Laos and now deputy assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk went to Viet Nam on fact-finding trips twice and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara five times, the last time in May 1964.

Panama May Try To Build New Canal Alone

One possibility under consideration is transformation of the Canal Zone into an industrial complex utilizing existing power and port installations.

Eliot said agreement was reached with Miesse for Panamanian technical experts to accompany Americans on field survey studies for a canal route.

President Johnson last December announced plans to build a new canal linking the Atlantic and Pacific and replacing the present 50-year-old, lockless canal.

The present canal is not large enough to handle many modern ships and the locks present are being enlarged to take ships.

Atlantic sites under consideration are Colombia, Nicaragua and Costa Rica.

Dr. King Still Jailed in Selma Racial Struggle

(Continued From Page One) into custody this week and to more than 1,600 the total since the campaign started 16 days ago.

Negro attorneys said they would ask a federal judge today to order the Dallas County Board of Registrars to meet more often and stay in session longer each day to give prospective Negro voters more time to apply for registration.

The lawyers said they also would petition U.S. Dist. Judge Daniel H. Thomas in Mobile for an injunction to prohibit city police from arresting Negroes participating in right-to-vote marches.

Thomas has issued a similar restraining order against Sheriff James G. Clark and his deputies.

The Negro attorneys said they would ask Judge Thomas to order the voter registration board to open eight hours a day, six days a week.

Thomas already has said, in his injunction against the sheriff, that the pace of registration in Selma is much too slow.

State law requires the registrars to meet on the first and third Mondays in each month, but provides additional time if needed, with the approval of state authorities who pay the cost.

To meet the demands, the board in Selma kept its doors open for 12 days last month. Only in the last six days after the civil rights campaign began, however, did any substantial number of Negroes apply.

The board is scheduled to meet only two days this month.

The demonstrations Tuesday, emphasizing once more the struggle for voting rights and at the same time protesting the arrest of King, brought the arrest of 111 adult Negroes and 304 teenagers.

Sheriff's deputies arrested the adults on contempt of court charges as they stood in line outside the courthouse to dramatize their demands for longer registration periods even though the board was not in session.

The contempt charges grew out of the fact that a state judge was presiding over a session of his court on the second floor of the building and complained that the demonstration was disturbing the orderly process of his court.

As they were loaded aboard bright yellow buses for the ride to jail, the Negroes sang freedom songs.

A short time later, pupils carrying freedom placards and holding the flag of the courthouses were taken into custody by city police and turned over to juvenile authorities.

The present canal is not large enough to handle many modern ships and the locks present are being enlarged to take ships.

Atlantic sites under consideration are Colombia, Nicaragua and Costa Rica.

They Raided the Junkpile And Built a Wass-O-Graph

Dave Hartzler, 17, 3113 N. Arcaida St., a student at Wasson High School, is building a Wass-O-graph in the school metal shop.

Basically, the machine uses a torch to cut metal according to a pattern. There is a free-swinging arm with an electromagnet on top and a gas torch on the bottom, Hartzler explained. The piece to be copied, or a thin sheet metal pattern of it, is fastened to a smaller fixed arm above the main one. The metal to be cut,  $\frac{1}{4}$  to  $\frac{1}{2}$  inch thick, is placed beneath the torch, on a table made of metal bars.

The magnet travels around the edge of the pattern, guiding the arm so that the torch cuts the same outline from the metal beneath. A sewing machine motor powers the electromagnet and also rotates it so that it moves around the pattern.

Other things that went into the Wass-O-graph include an old car differential housing, a few pieces of pipe, assorted nuts and bolts, and odds and ends from the metal shop.

The machine, built from parts costing $7 or $8, does the same thing as an industrial machine costing $500, said Earl Gentry, industrial arts teacher at Wasson. It differs from the more expensive one in that it uses a common horizontal torch, rather than a vertical one; and an electromagnet, rather than a permanent one. "The electromagnet is easier to mount because of its shape, and is stronger," Hartzler said. The electromagnet was made in the shop.

The idea for the Wass-O-graph

began last year in the metal shop, Gentry said. Other boys who worked on the original machine included Bob Scheil, Harlan Fullner and Dave Reid. The first machine was built entirely from scrap material, but the new one has many parts built especially for it.

All work on the new machine is being done by Hartzler. "I used the old machine to make the new one," he said.

"He's one of the best students I've had in seven years," said Gentry. "He's incorporated many of his own ideas, such as a new method of holding the torch, and a new drive mechanism. A sewing machine foot pedal has been transformed into a rheostat, which will make it possible to adjust the motor speed to cut different thicknesses of steel plate. The arms on the new machine can be adjusted up and down on the upright shaft by means of handles. Also, the new machine can be balanced with levers on the legs.

The Wass-O-graph allows the student to cut the parts for a machinist's vice in about one half hour. Cutting all parts by hand used to take from several weeks to several months. Cutting and polishing together now take about one week, according to Hartzler.

A spokesman said India accused Pakistan of 41 cease-fire violations since Jan. 30 in the southwestern part of the disputed Himalayan state. Indian troops suffered no casualties, he said.

NEW YORK (AP) — New York City's 15-cent municipal transit fare, the lowest in the nation, soon may be only a memory.

Joseph E. O'Grady, chairman of the City Transit Authority, announced Tuesday that a $20-million deficit is expected by June 30 on subway and bus lines. A subsequent rise in the 15-cent fare is inevitable, he indicated.

"We are coming to the end of our financial string," O'Grady told a news conference.

The 15-cent rate on the 720-mile subway system and 554-mile municipal transit system in 1953, is a nickel less than the next lowest metropolitan transit fare, Boston's 20 cents.

The Transit Authority is required by law to increase the fare when it operates at a deficit.

John W. Verner of 2006 E. Main Street, Canon City, and the Rev. Lambert D. Morrow OSB, Holy Cross Abbey, have won commendations for safe driving and will compete for the January Highway Safety Award to be presented by the Denver Post and Denver U.S. National Bank.

The safe driving citation to

Verner was issued by Patrolman Glen D. Kelley, and Father Morrow's citation was issued by Patrolman Stanley A. McGuire. Both patrolmen are stationed at Canon City.

A sewing machine foot pedal has been transformed into a rheostat, which will make it possible to adjust the motor speed to cut different thicknesses of steel plate. The arms on the new machine can be adjusted up and down on the upright shaft by means of handles. Also, the new machine can be balanced with levers on the legs.

The Wass-O-graph allows the student to cut the parts for a machinist's vice in about one half hour. Cutting all parts by hand used to take from several weeks to several months. Cutting and polishing together now take about one week, according to Hartzler.

NEW YORK (AP) — New York City's 15-cent municipal transit fare, the lowest in the nation, soon may be only a memory.

Joseph E. O'Grady, chairman of the City Transit Authority, announced Tuesday that a $20-million deficit is expected by June 30 on subway and bus lines. A subsequent rise in the 15-cent fare is inevitable, he indicated.

"We are coming to the end of our financial string," O'Grady told a news conference.

The 15-cent rate on the 720-mile subway system and 554-mile municipal transit system in 1953, is a nickel less than the next lowest metropolitan transit fare, Boston's 20 cents.

The Transit Authority is required by law to increase the fare when it operates at a deficit.

John W. Verner of 2006 E. Main Street, Canon City, and the Rev. Lambert D. Morrow OSB, Holy Cross Abbey, have won commendations for safe driving and will compete for the January Highway Safety Award to be presented by the Denver Post and Denver U.S. National Bank.

The safe driving citation to

Verner was issued by Patrolman Glen D. Kelley, and Father Morrow's citation was issued by Patrolman Stanley A. McGuire. Both patrolmen are stationed at Canon City.

Other things that went into the Wass-O-graph include an old car differential housing, a few pieces of pipe, assorted nuts and bolts, and odds and ends from the metal shop.

The machine, built from parts costing $7 or $8, does the same thing as an industrial machine costing $500, said Earl Gentry, industrial arts teacher at Wasson. It differs from the more expensive one in that it uses a common horizontal torch, rather than a vertical one; and an electromagnet, rather than a permanent one. "The electromagnet is easier to mount because of its shape, and is stronger," Hartzler said. The electromagnet was made in the shop.

The idea for the Wass-O-graph

began last year in the metal shop, Gentry said. Other boys who worked on the original machine included Bob Scheil, Harlan Fullner and Dave Reid. The first machine was built entirely from scrap material, but the new one has many parts built especially for it.

All work on the new machine is being done by Hartzler. "I used the old machine to make the new one," he said.

"He's one of the best students I've had in seven years," said Gentry. "He's incorporated many of his own ideas, such as a new method of holding the torch, and a new drive mechanism. ## SOME VIEW, HUH?

The Response to Carter Letter—Final

We are engaged in responding to a letter from N. J. Carter which appeared yesterday in our Open Parliament section.

We were discussing the question of representation and had already given one reason for questioning the idea. This relates to the fact that no government "representative" can do what he professes to do. He cannot represent honestly and fairly all the persons in his district because the persons in his district have distinctly opposite views and wishes on virtually every issue. Thus, the "representative" can only betray some while he labors on behalf of others. Yet he claims to "represent" them all.

For another reason we cannot favor the procedure. Any condition of agency (representation), to be valid must be one in which lines of responsibility are clearly drawn. The principal (the voter) must be responsible for the actions of the man or men he elects. The "representative" must be responsible to the principal (the voter). But our system is one in which the voters act in secret and not in any open or authentic manner. Thus, no "representative" knows who selected him nor who opposed him. The voters constitute a secret group which, under cover of anonymity, cast their ballots and avoid all responsibility for the outcome.

Mr. Carter, in seeking to support the Russian system, says that the poverty in Russia which ensued following the Lenin coup by which he took power in 1917 was not occasioned by communist policy but by a great drought. Historic economic evidence is to the contrary. No drought in history has ever wrought the mischief and the damage that communism inflicted upon the innocent people of Russia.

It is true that Russia has increased production since 1917. However, the disaster occasioned by acceptance of communist (rampant socialism) was so great that it took them until 1928 to equal the production they had in 1913. Since that time (1928), they have advanced. However, their advance has occurred in direct ratio as they abandoned socialism and introduced the "new economic policy" by means of which some measure of private ownership and private management was restored.

We do not believe that the

MCGILL CRITIC

Editor's note: Because it is of interest to our readers, we print below a letter that reader F. C. Ware submitted to the Yuma Daily Sun.

Editor, the Sun

In his column today on the economy, Ralph McGill said, "Gold mines in the United States are about played out." Whatever Mr. McGill's knowledge of the economy, he was dead wrong in that remark. There is more gold in American mines than has ever been taken out, and colossal amounts of silver and other precious metals as well. I cannot speak for the miners of Arizona (they will probably do so themselves on that one!) but the gold deposits at Cripple Creek, Colorado, were and are among the greatest on earth. One deposit in the Cresson mine was of such quality that miners were stripped and searched before and after work, used different clothes in and out of the mine, and were medically examined on the way from the mine to their dressing room, and still the rumor is that the mine owners lost over a million dollars a day through the practice of "highgrading." You don't steal that much — even if every man is a thief — under such security, from a mine with the low grade ores Mr. McGill describes as so low yield that the costs of extracting the precious metal are prohibitive.

Colorado gold is unlike the free gold of Arizona: it is in chemical combinations, often as tellurides, and the cost of refining it is indeed considerable. But the reason it is uneconomical is because idealistic government agents have frozen the price of gold at a figure so far below the present potential free market for it that it would be too costly to pick up nuggets with a scoop shovel. Prices of all other commodities have multiplied in recent years, but gold has been tied by government at one price since before the majority of our countrymen were born. Of course it is costly to refine it! When that price was set, four dollars a day was good pay for anyone — now see what a hard rock miner costs if you can get him, or even a mucker! Silver is in the same situation; the loss of mining of these two metals nearly destroyed the state fifty years ago — through the toddling ancestry of today's governmental meddling.

Mines played out? As well to say the sea is going dry! Please refer Mr. McGill to Mr. Rufus Porter, gold miner, mineralogist, assayer, author, poet, and editor pro-tem of the editorial page of the Colorado Springs Gazette Telegraph. There he can learn something about American gold. If he is not already too well (mis)informed to listen:

CHEATING NOT NEW

To the Editor:

With the present publicity regarding the cheating of some of the cadets at the Air Force Academy, and the belief of ranking officers that this practice could endanger our safety as a nation, I feel it is a responsibility to share some information with the public.

While a pilot and a captain in the Air Force, I was sent to an Aircraft Maintenance Officers Course (A.M.O.C.) at Chanute Field, Illinois, in 1954.

This was a six month course training officers ranking from majors to second lieutenants in Aircraft Maintenance divided into phases.

At the end of each phase, we had an examination covering the material presented. During the examination the word was circulated around the classroom "cooperate and graduate." In other words the cheating by officers was done openly.

Officers who were college graduates and one M.I.T. graduate were making low grades and could hardly control their tempers, because of the tricky wording of the questions and the amount of cheating they knew was going on.

Foreign officers attending the course showed me the answers to test questions and told me they had lost all respect for the school and only wanted to get through the course and return to their own country.

I'm convinced that a return to a moral way of life is not just idealistic, but is absolutely necessary for the survival of our country.

Where there is a lack of respect there is also a lack of efficiency, and in consequence a lack of morale.

May the Lord help us to see the need for correcting the conditions in our country and occupy until He comes.

The Local Scene

"An Archaic Rule"

By RUFUS L. PORTER

"An archaic rule" is what the socialists in the administration have been calling the rule by which our currency is backed by a 25 per cent gold reserve (it isn't really, because we have no gold of our own), but the politicians like to continue the legend, or myth.

And now the phrase "archaic rule" is being echoed overseas in socialistic England. I quote Michael Posner in the New Statesman:

"Gold hoarders have been warned of the huge masses of maneuver available in Fort Knox, and the administration has boldly announced its willingness to change the archaic rule by which gold is required to back the liabilities of the Federal Reserve system. But the spectre of a run against the dollar, conceived after the sterling crisis and the orthodox methods taken to defend the pound, should be slain at birth."

Gold hoarders have been warned of the huge masses of maneuver available in Fort Knox, and the administration has boldly announced its willingness to change the archaic rule by which gold is required to back the liabilities of the Federal Reserve system. But the spectre of a run against the dollar, conceived after the sterling crisis and the orthodox methods taken to defend the pound, should be slain at birth."

Such a contingency is possible, but not probable. Humanly, the world over has too long accepted the proposition that money is within the realm of government. The most likely thing to occur after galloping inflation has brought the nation to its knees is that a strong man, a man on a white horse, a dictator will step in and take control. This happened in Germany under Hitler. It happened more recently in France under de Gaulle. It has happened a thousand times in history. There is every indication that it will happen here and we have a bureaucracy well organized for the purpose and there is always a strong man standing ready in the wings to jump out and assume command. If you ask me, it is being planned that way.

The far more than 100 billion that has been squandered in foreign aid has shown so much mismanagement and waste that we should know enough to stop it now. Millions in cattle barns where there were no cattle, bath houses where the people refused to use them, electronic supplies where there was no electricity. Those supplies are scattered over the land, and many other wastes costing millions.

Foreign aid should be abolished in total amounts, those billions could be used better at home. Remember our debts should be paid, they are greater than all the debts of other nations of whom we are helping annually. While we are giving foreign aid to South Viet Nam and keeping a large army there at enormous expense, we are neglecting our own borders.

Cuba is murdering all the people they find that are trying to escape from the terrible conditions that they are living under. Thousands have been murdered as they attempted to flee across that 90 mile flood between Cuba and the USA. They have been found by our soldiers in the old boats they have stolen or made out of old lumber and boxes, and many of them have been wounded before they could escape. One crew was in a craft made of old tires, and several of them were carrying bullets and others were already dead. It seems that we should use our power, that we spend so much money to produce, to do something that will aid those neighbors of ours that could have been in better condition if Kennedy had not made such a disaster by failing to keep his promises to help at the Bay of Pigs.

His failure to keep his word to the Cubans has cost thousands of lives, and still we have to change the name of a city in his honor and the largest airport in U.S. The fact that we give huge help both in finance and armaments and soldiers to South Vietnam, and at the same time neglect our own defense in regard to Cuba, and allow Castro to destroy his own people, and have a big school for communist subversion within 90 miles of our Florida coast, it makes us wonder, "What good is our President, our Congress, our army and navy, if they do not do good to our neighbors, or even prevent damage to our selves?"

We could get a surprise attack at any time and Russia would be right there to help Castro, in fact they have the help in Cuba right now. I think our military men should have more power to run things and to say when we are really protected. To leave such decisions to McNamara and Johnson is the silliest thing our country can do. Write your congressmen, they wouldn't do what you tell them to, but it will give them a kick in the pants.

'HOW TO KEEP WELL'

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN
To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not received. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

TENSION HALITOSIS

A WASHINGTON, D. C., physician believes halitosis frequently is caused by changes in the chemistry of saliva. To be more exact, tension causes stagnation of the oral secretions and the dry pockets in the mouth become tiny odoriferous cesspools. The remedy: Avoid stress and use lozenges or gum at such times.

Most of the saliva used for moistening, mixing, and digesting food comes from the three large salivary glands on each side of the jaw and mouth. These organs are stimulated by thought, sight, smell, and taste of food.

The mouth, tongue, and tonsils are studded with thousands of glands, somewhat analogous to the sweat and oil glands of the skin. Each structure has a single opening but the part beneath the surface is made up of many branching ducts. These glands produce a continuous flow of saliva that bathes and lubricates the membranes of the mouth. This helps in chewing, speaking, cooling hot foods, and diluting irritants.

The nerves going to these oral glands, according to Dr. Thomas R. Rees, shut down when the individual is excited or under strain. The dried saliva has a noticeably offensive odor. This is avoided by keeping the oral cavity moist.

There are many well established causes of halitosis. Poor dental hygiene is high on the list. Dental cavities, pyorrhea, unclean teeth, and failure to brush away food particles are frequent possibilities.

Infected sinuses and chronic nasal or lung infections are recognized origins, and so are indigestion, smoking, and imbibing alcohol. It is well known that certain gases in the intestine, and condiments such as garlic and onion, are absorbed by the blood and excreted into the lungs or glands in the mouth.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

RECURRENT BOILS

Mrs. K. M. writes: My daughter's doctor can't seem to lick the problem of boils, even with penicillin. What causes repeated boils, despite meticulous cleanliness?

REPLY

The reservoir for the causative staphylococcal infection usually is found in the nose of the victim or some member of the family. This is determined by preparing cultures from the nose and treating locally with gentamicin.

MORNING PILL

C. P. writes: Is it better to take a high blood pressure pill in the morning or the afternoon?

REPLY

In the morning, especially if it contains a diuretic. Furthermore, should you forget to take the pill in the morning, you

Jenkins Resigns

His Commission

WASHINGTON (AP) — Walter Jenkins, former White House aide and long-time friend of President Johnson, has resigned his commission as a colonel in the Air Force Reserve.

An Air Force spokesman said Tuesday the resignation was dated Jan. 28 and was accepted by the Air Force Monday.

Jenkins was asked to resign his White House post last fall after disclosure that he had been arrested twice on moral charges.

LOOK, MARMOSET, NO CAVITIES

HOUSTON (UPI) — A monkey-like animal with a singing name, the marmoset, is scheduled to be a scientist's helper in the search for answers to tooth decay and disease in humans.

A breeding colony of around 200 cotton-eared marmosets is now in residence at the University of Texas Dental Branch in Houston. Their babies will be reared in germ-free surroundings to determine if certain tooth disorders can start without germs being present. Then doctors can introduce germs by introducing germs by tooth disease, to see which route is which way.

The marmosets are valuable for both research because their teeth are like those of man.

Mostly Malarky

have the rest of the day to remember to do so.

TINGLING TIP
B. R. writes: A month ago I cut my index finger with a knife. Healing has occurred but the tip remains extremely sensitive. Will this sensation pass in time?

REPLY
Yes. In all probability, a sensory nerve was cut as well as the skin.

LIME WATER DATED
P. R. writes: Is lime water for indigestion an obsolete remedy?

REPLY
Yes. Many modern antacids and drugs are more helpful in relaxing the stomach.

EYE ULCER
E. B. writes: What is the cause of ulcers of the eye?

REPLY
Injury is the most common cause, followed, perhaps, by infection.

Judge, Prosecutor Fired in Moscow

MOSCOW (AP) — A judge and a prosecutor who convicted an innocent journalist on bribery charges have been fired, Pravda reported today.

The Soviet Communist party daily last December angrily interceded on behalf of A. D. Gaskov, a journalist in the town of Armavir, who was sent to prison on trumped up bribery charges.

Gaskov was said to have offended local party bosses with his exposé of sin and corruption among the party and government elite in Armavir.

Following the publicity in Pravda, authorities reviewed the case and the prosecutor, L. I. Kuzminykh, was dismissed. A regional judge was removed because he failed to review the case, the paper said. A number of officials were reprimanded.

Gaskov has been reinstated in his job on the Armavir party newspaper, Pravda said.

RUBBER VS. FIRE

AKRON, Ohio (UPI) — More than 5,000 miles of fire hose—enough to reach from New York City to Buenos Aires—will be sold in the United States in 1965, it is estimated by Goodyear's Industrial Products Division.

The company says municipalities and industrial users will purchase between 25 and 30 million feet of rubber-lined hose during the year for protection against fire. Fire hose has a life expectancy of seven years, Goodyear says.

Black bears often are mistakenly classified among the hibernating animals.

Philippines Foreign Secretary May Quit

By TONY DE NIGRO

NEW YORK (AP) — Opposition congressmen today demanded the resignation of Philippine Foreign Secretary Mauro Mendez for refusing to demand an apology from U.S. Ambassador William McCormick Blair Jr.

Blair has been accused of insulting the Filipino people by revealing in an off-the-record news conference that an explosive shell had been thrown at an American school at the U.S. Clark Air Base, north of Manila. Mendez said Tuesday an investigation of the incident by the Philippine government revealed no grounds for asking an apology from Blair.

The memberships of the two striking unions voted Sunday night with shouts of joy to accept a four-point proposal worked out by a mayoral committee over the weekend. Mayor Robert F. Wagner already had approved the peace plan.

The solution was greeted by labor officials as a union victory.

Labor leaders eyed the outcome as a test of the state's Condon-Wadlin Act which bans public employee strikes.

George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, told the strikers in a message Sunday night that the settlement demonstrated "that your militancy brought about a victory of importance to the entire labor movement."

The strikers' acceptance ended the longest walkout by public employees in the city's history, carried out in defiance of two court orders as well as the Condon-Wadlin Act.

The back-to-work proposal calls for the city and the unions to go together into court and seek:

— Release of 19 union leaders, jailed for 30-day terms for refusing to order a return to work, and — Suspension of Condon-Wadlin Act penalties, under which the strikers could be docked double pay for the duration of the strike, until the act's penalty clause is constitutionally tested.

The two unions rejected a peace plan two weeks ago because it did not contain such a suspension of penalties' clause.

The city also agreed to set up a five-member fact-finding board to investigate the unions' demands for higher pay and smaller case loads.

This was the strikers' demand when they walked out Jan. 4.

The fourth point in the proposal calls on the city to show no vindictiveness toward the return employees.

Wagner had refused to negotiate with the two unions while they were on strike.

He appointed a citizens task force last Thursday. It consisted of Anna Rosenberg Hoffman, former assistant secretary of defense; David Dubinsky, president of the AFL-CIO International Ladies Garment Workers Union, and financier John Cole.

Miss Truman made her debut Monday as cohost of a Philadelphia special events show over WCAU-TV.

The station has shipped a tape of the show to KCMO-TV in Kansas City, which will show the tape to Truman or convert it into film for showing at his convenience.

SUELLEN McANDREWS

ROBERT L. McANDREWS

Couple to Talk
On Peace Corps
At College

The typical American bride does not serve her husband rice with palm oil and mangoes for breakfast. But Suellen McAndrews finds nothing typical in her life with the Peace Corps in the remote village of Kpaiyea in the Western Province of Liberia.

Mrs. McAndrews, accompanied by her husband, will visit the Colorado College campus Thursday and Friday to answer questions about the Peace Corps. She is the former Suellen Haney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Donald Haney of 1428 N. Tejon in Colorado Springs, who were both graduates of Colorado College.

Miss Haney joined the Peace Corps in Liberia in 1962 where she met Robert L. McAndrews, a native of California and a Peace Corps volunteer. They were married in a Liberian wedding ceremony.

Receiving her B. A. from Scripps College, Claremont, Calif., in 1960, Mrs. McAndrews has done graduate work at the University of Houston, University of St. Thomas in Houston, and at Colorado College. Robert McAndrews was educated at Pierce College and San Fernando Valley State College, where he earned his B. S. in psychology. He has done graduate work in philosophy and anthropology.

Mr. and Mrs. McAndrews use their teaching experience in the elementary school in Kpaiyea. They are replacing Liberian teachers to free them for further education, since many have not gone beyond the eighth grade.

The Peace Corps volunteers will also be available to answer questions at 10 a.m. on Thursday and 9 a.m. Friday in Rastall Center.

A meeting with Mr. and Mrs. McAndrews, sponsored by the International Relations Club at 4 p.m. Thursday in the W. E. S. Lounge of Rastall Center, will be open to the public without charge.

Anyone interested in further information may contact Dr. Fred A. Sondermann, associate dean of the college.

San Salvador Missile Station to Be Closed

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The missile-tracking station on San Salvador Island will be closed, and 300 employees will be dropped from the Air Force Eastern Test Range payroll in an economy move.

The Air Force made the announcement Monday. Affected will be 170 employees of Pan American World Airways and 130 of Radio Corp. of America. The dollar saving was not announced.

Only a small caretaker force will remain on the Bahama Island.

Pan American operates and maintains the range for the Air Force. RCA performs technical services under a subcontract with Pan Am.

Officials said the action was the result of careful assessment of work loads and manpower needs.

Humphrey Finds New Work Has Frustrations

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hubert H. Humphrey is finding the beginning of life as a vice president full of ceremonial duties, hard work on executive matters, unaccustomed silence and political frustrations.

Humphrey, who served as President Johnson's right arm in piloting controversial legislation such as the civil rights bill through the Senate last year, has found some doors closed to him as the nation's No. 2 elected official.

Among other things, he has been quietly excluded from meetings of the Senate Democratic Conference. The conference, of which all Democratic senators are members, has the final word on party strategy in the body.

The explanation for this exclusion is that the Democratic leadership was determined to avoid the kind of ruckus that erupted when Lyndon B. Johnson vacated the majority leadership to step into the vice presidency in 1961.

At that time, Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield proposed the election of Johnson as presiding officer of the conference. Vice President Albert W. Barkley had established precedent for such procedure by presiding over conference meetings.

Mansfield's proposal touched off protests from Sens. Albert Gore of Tennessee, Joseph S. Clark of Pennsylvania, Wayne Morse of Oregon, Paul H. Douglas of Illinois and A. S. Mike Monroney of Oklahoma.

They contended that as a member of the executive branch, the vice president should not preside over legislative meetings. The conference elected Johnson but the 17 votes cast against this action caused the then vice president subsequently to call the meetings to order and immediately turn the gavel over to Mansfield.

Johnson at least sat in on these meetings. Humphrey has been relegated to the corridors or calling around to their offices to buttonhole senators in behalf of Johnson proposals. He has been working recently to attempt to soften the House-passed ban on further shipment of food commodities to the United Arab Republic.

The fact that he is attached to the Senate as its president officer but is not it has been brought home to Humphrey by his inability to wangle what he regards as suitable office space in the Capitol. Johnson, who was in possession of it, kept a lavish office across a corridor from the Senate chamber, as well as a ceremonial room just off the Senate floor, quarters in the Senate Office Building and additional rooms in the basement of the Capitol.

Restaurant Man Fights Court In Atlanta

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — An eating place owner who said he refused service only to integrationists awaited closing arguments today in his fight against a contempt of court charge. Lester G. Maddox, heard St. John Barrett of the Justice Department's civil rights division suggest in federal court Tuesday that he be fined $1,000 a day until he complied with an anti-discrimination order.

Another U.S. nuclear ship, the submarine Seadragon, is currently in Sasebo, southern Japan. Left-wing groups there have staged protest demonstrations.

New Republican Group Is Announced

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Committee to Support Moderate Republicans, established during the 1964 campaign, is changing its name to Republicans for Progress and is opening a Washington office this week.

The group said in a statement today that it "is establishing itself in the capital in order to assist creative and constructive Republicans strength in not just the party's 'image' with the American people, but its record of achievement."

Former Mayor Charles P. Taft of Cincinnati is chairman of the group, whose members include Henry Cabot Lodge, 1960 GOP vice-presidential nominee; former Gov. Elmer Anderson of Minnesota; former Sen. Ralph Flanders of Vermont; and Malcolm Moos, former assistant to President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Albert E. Abrahams, a former newspaperman and for 10 years executive secretary to Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., has been named executive director.

would serve Negroes who were segregationists, he said he would as long as they didn't claim he had to.

Maddox defined an integrationist as "any person who says he believes the government has the right to force me to serve him against my will."

He declared he was not denying anyone service because of race, but only because they were integrationists. He said he had never struck, slapped or abused anybody he refused to serve, but had pushed some.

The eating place owner said he denied four Negroes service last Friday because they were integrationists. He was ordered into court to show why he should not be held in civil contempt.

During his appearance on the stand Maddox said his new business was running $8,000 to $12,000 a month below the old Pickwick volume.

The earth's crust is estimated to be about 5 million years when Barrett asked him if he did.

Crane Soars Through Clouds, in Airplane

WASHINGTON (AP) — Canus, an eight-month-old whooping crane who never will be able to fly, soared through the clouds Tuesday — in an airplane.

The government has been taking special care of Canus since it was found, injured, last September. It is one of the 49 whooping cranes known to exist in this continent.

The plane ride took the bird, whose name is a mix of Canada and the United States, from the Monte Vista National Wildlife Refuge in Colorado to the Colorado State University's College of Veterinary Medicine at Ft. Collins.

The rest of the measure came under increasingly heavy attack, particularly a proposal to make $100 million available to both public and private schools for the purchase of library books and textbooks.

That was the provision labeled clearly unconstitutional by Leo Pfeffer, a noted constitutional lawyer, and the American Civil Liberties Union.

Chinese Communists Are Invading Africa

ABIDJAN, Ivory Coast (AP) —

The presidents of Niger and Upper Volta say the Communist Chinese are invading Africa and warned leaders of other African nations that silence is favoring Chinese action.

President Hamani Diori of Niger said he had proof that agents from Peking have organized the Sawaba, a clandestine opposition group, in his country.

They spoke to newsmen Tuesday after meeting with President Felix Houphouet-Boigny of the Ivory Coast.

Attorney Tells Court Police Used 'Punitive Measure' in Speed Case

Attorney William Carew Tuesday in Municipal Court charged that two policemen used "the law as a sword rather than a shield" Dec. 17 when they upped a speeding charge to reckless driving against his client Robert Meade, 32, 3600 N. Cascade Ave.

Carew was referring to Patrolmen William B. Cox and Jerome Busemeyer. Cox testified he and Busemeyer were on routine patrol late on Dec. 17 and spotted Meade, northbound on Cascade Avenue, driving at a high rate of speed. He said they clocked him going 45 miles in the 30-mile an hour zone, and later clocked him in excess of 50 miles an hour and "sometimes 60."

Their decision, Cox said, was to issue a speeding ticket but later they made it reckless driving as Meade had been drinking and was "indifferent to the way to which he had originally pleaded not guilty. He was found guilty and a $20 fine imposed.

Curtis James, 18, 2428 E. Monument St., changed his pleas to guilty to reckless and careless driving. Judge Asher found him guilty of the first, imposed a $100 fine, and suspended $25 on condition the youth has no further violations this year and attends the traffic lecture Feb. 15 in the City Auditorium.

Donald Steele, 24, 8th Street Trailer Court, was fined $100 on his guilty plea to reckless driving. Judge Asher suspended $50 on the conditions placed on James.

Margaret Benton, 50, 921 N. Corona St., was fined $25 on her guilty plea to careless driving. Disposition on a charge of damage to city property was continued until Feb. 17. Mrs. Benton struck a light pole which the city says is valued at $860. She said she does not have car insurance.

Jimmie Gennett, 20, 1511 N. Nevada Ave., pleaded not guilty to careless driving. His trial to careless driving. His trial was set for Feb. 23.

The trial of Opal Webb, 52, 2527 Meade Cir., on charges of reckless and careless driving, was continued until Feb. 16. Dale Akervik's trial on a charge of improper passing was also continued until Feb. 16. Akervik, 22, lives at 2287 Merry Ln.

Ulysses Howard, 21, 815 E. Vermijo St., pleaded not guilty to disorderly conduct and breach of peace and his trial was set for Feb. 15. Judge Asher dismissed riotous conduct and drunk charge against Lauf-land Stapleton, 40, 301 Fairmont St., on a request by the man's wife.

Karl Zimmerman, 59, Denver, was given 20 days in jail on his guilty plea to vagrancy.

Earlier he had referred to "Toward a Soviet America," written in 1932 by William Foster, then chairman of the United States Communist Party. The book called for a world Soviet Union backed by the Red Army, the establishments of local soviets, and the dissolution of organizations serving as "political props of bourgeoisie rule," such as chambers of commerce and service clubs.

Now he turned to a consideration of "diplomacy." He quoted Stalin as saying, "A diplomat's words must have no relation to action" and "Sincere diplomacy is no more possible than dry water." Khrushchev, according to the speaker, said that it would be the people themselves (in the United States) who would choose Communism. Price also quoted Dmitri Manuilsky as saying that a peace movement on the part of the Communists would put the bourgeoisie to sleep and that they would leap at the chance to be friends.

At the Monday night meeting, which was sponsored by Sears Roebuck and Company, the workers were told by Casell Barrett — the big boss, and Dr. Robert Zimmer — the straw boss, how important their job is to build up the membership of the "Y." They were told that the goals for this year's round-up are 500 new and re-newed members for a value of $10,000.

The round-up organization is divided into two divisions with Dr. Harold Will leading the South Park Outfit, and Jack Waymire leading the San Luis Outfit.

The round-up will continue February 16 with report meetings on February 8, February 10 and February 12 as well as the final report on February 16. All meetings are held at the YMCA at 6 p.m.

West Germany May Break With Nasser

BONN, Germany (AP) — legal government for all of Germany. Chancellor Ludwig Erhard met with West Germany's ambassador to Cairo today to consider whether this country should break off diplomatic relations with the United Arab Republic. The ambassador, Georg Federer, returned Tuesday to report on the U.A.R.'s invitation for a state visit to Walter Ulbricht, leader of Communist East Germany. The six-day visit to make change, were known as "four bits" and "two bits."

A Spanish milled dollar of that period was known as the "pieces of eight." Halves and quarters of this silver coin, cut to make change, were known as "four bits" and "two bits."

Keating to Return
To His Law Practice

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Former Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, defeated in his bid for reelection last November by Democrat Robert F. Kennedy, says he has "pretty much decided" to return to law practice.

Keating said Tuesday he was considering offers to join law firms in New York, Washington and Rochester, his home city, and expects to make a decision "before very long."

FEDERAL TAX TIPS

BY ROGER E. WARD
Administrative Representative
Internal Revenue Service

Editor's note: This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q — Will the second stage of the new tax cut increase my take-home pay?

A — No it won't. Withholding rates were reduced last year in just one stage compared to the two stage drop in tax rates.

While most taxpayers won't find any change in the size of their paycheck as a result of the 1965 tax reductions, the savings from this cut are still very real.

Tax rates on 1965 individual income drop to a range of 14 per cent to 70 per cent. The tax rates on income earned last year are 16 per cent to 77 per cent. Before the tax cut, individual income tax rates started at 20 per cent and went up to 91 per cent.

Q — Who may use the new minimum standards deduction:

A — Any individual taxpayer may use this provision if he finds it to his advantage. Generally speaking, this provision will benefit low income taxpayers.

Individuals can have income up to $900 and married couples up to $1,600 and have no income tax to pay, thanks to the minimum standards deduction. It is estimated that about 1.5 million people will be freed of tax liability as a result.

Q — I increased my withholding last year to avoid the possibility of owing more tax at year-end. Should I continue my withholding at the same rate for 1965? I've heard it said that last year was a special situation and that additional withholding taken then need not be continued.

A — The answer to this question must be decided by each taxpayer. The law tells you how must be withheld but it is up to each taxpayer to decide whether he wants additional amounts taken out of each paycheck.

The special situation you described last year resulted from the use of two withholding rates, 18 percent and 14 percent, during the year to make the required federal income tax deductions. The combination of these rates only approximated an effective rate of 16 per cent, the lowest tax rate for 1964.

To prevent taxpayers from being surprised by additional bills at year-end, we suggested last year that taxpayers make a rough estimate of their 1964 tax liability. By comparing this with how much would be withheld, they could decide whether to have additional amounts withheld or to increase estimated tax payments.

Whether taxpayers who took either of these actions in 1964 want to continue them in 1965 is something they will have to decide based on their 1965 tax situation.

Q — What can I do to speed up my refund?

Woman Says
She Drowned
Her Children

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — A 25-year-old woman was being held for investigation today after she told her husband that she was responsible for the drowning deaths of three of their four children, Anne Arundel County police said.

Police said Mary Jane Leister of nearby Arnold, called her husband, Elmer, 32, at work Tuesday and told him what she had done, adding "I saved the one you liked the best."

Police found the bodies of Dennis E., 6, Rose Marie, 4, and Elmer Patrick, 8 months, in the bedroom of the family's two-room frame bungalow. The fourth child, Mary Jane, 2, was found unharmed.

Police said they found two cooking pots and a serving dish, each containing water, in the room. Police theorized the youngsters had been drowned in the vessels. The house does not have a bathtub.

Howard Conway, a lawyer, said county juvenile officials earlier had ordered the Leisters to appear Thursday to discuss reports that the children had been mistreated recently.

Police said Mrs. Leister was treated at Anne Arundel General Hospital after she told them she had taken a bottle and a half of aspirin. She was lodged in the county jail after being questioned for several hours at county police headquarters.

A — If you haven't filed your return yet, there are some things you can do to help speed up a refund. These consist of checking your return thoroughly before sending it in.

A return that is unsigned, which lacks a social security number or is minus a W-2 form will have to be completed before it can be processed. The time it takes to contact the taxpayer for the missing information will naturally delay a refund.

If you've already filed your return the best thing you can do is wait patiently. A call to our office will only add to the workload of our employees.

Q — I am filing a joint return with my wife. Do we have to list her social security number on the return even though most of the income we report came from my salary?

A — Your wife's tax account (social security) number should be listed if she has one. Even though she may not work, any separate income she receives from stock investments, savings accounts or similar sources makes it necessary for her to have a number.

Banks and corporations are required to report dividend and interest payments to us identified by an account number. The recipients, in this case your wife, are required to list the income they receive from these sources on a return.

Q — I haven't received my W-2 yet from my employer. What should I do?

A — Employers are required by law to provide their employees with W-2 forms by the end of January. If you don't receive your form by that date ask your employer about it.

Most delays in obtaining W-2 forms occur when a person works for more than one employer during the year and has also changed his address. In such case, an employer might have difficulty locating a former employer to send him the required form.

In cases where there is more than one employer, it is important to obtain W-2 forms from all of them. This is the only way a taxpayer can be sure of getting credit for the income and employment taxes that were withheld from his paychecks.

Pearl Bailey
In Hospital
For Heart Strain

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Pearl Bailey, famed alike for her casual comedy and her husky blue voice, is in Mount Sinai Hospital suffering from "heart strain as a result of overwork," says her doctor.

The physician said the 46-year-old singer is undergoing tests in the hospital's intensive care unit. He said her condition is good and she probably will be transferred to a regular hospital room.

Miss Bailey will remain in the hospital for about 10 days, the doctor said, adding that she'll have to take it easy for some time.

The singer, who recently completed a night club engagement in Las Vegas, entered the hospital Tuesday night.

For several years Miss Bailey has been a regular star on the swank supper club circuit from New York to the West Coast, with an occasional television guest shot.

But "Pearly Mae" has been an established performer since she was 15. That's when she left public school in Philadelphia to take the first of a long line of jobs with various popular bands.

Broadway beckoned in 1946, when Miss Bailey made her stage debut in "St. Louis Woman." Another play, "House of Flowers," sent her winging to Hollywood and featured movie roles, most notably "Carmen Jones."

Fourteen years ago, Miss Bailey, a Negro, married jazz drummer Louis Bellson, white. They have successfully challenged the show business tradition that marriage between people of separate careers consists largely of separations. The formula: their agent books them in the same town as often as possible.

Miss Bailey, although a singer of considerable talent, is perhaps best known as the master of the throwaway comedy line — inimitable offhand remarks which set the lyrics of her songs.

Her act hasn't changed in 15 years, except for details, but the one which decorates "Carmen Jones" — "I Love My Name" — ever fresh and spontaneous.

U.S. Tourists Abroad May Be Taxed, Too

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon was asked Tuesday by Sen. Edward V. Long, D-Mo., about reports the administration is considering taxing U.S. tourists who go abroad $50 or $100.

He replied that all aspects of the U.S. balance of payments deficit are being studied but that no decision has been made on possible remedies.

The matter came up during a Senate Banking Committee hearing on an administration bill to remove the 25 per cent gold backing on Federal Reserve bank deposits. Long was seeking assurance that passage of the measure would make unnecessary any tourist tax.

Dillon said tourism is an important factor in the payments problem because it accounts for a $1.75-billion annual deficit.

President Stuart G. Tipton of the Air Transport Association said the air transport industry opposed any "proposal that would tax, penalize, discriminate against or in any way restrict the right of U.S. citizens to travel to foreign countries."

BERLIN — Germans believe the painful employment of mothers "unprofitable."

COMBINING TALENTS — The Kansas State Varsity Glee Club, pictured above, will join voices with the Air Force Academy Cadet Chorale

for a concert at 8 p.m. Friday in the Arnold Hall Theatre. The concert is open to the public. No admission will be charged.

Soviet Premier Will Visit Red Viet Nam

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Alexei N. Kosygin will leave Thursday for Communist North Viet Nam, official Soviet sources said today.

The Soviets announced Sunday that Kosygin would visit Hanoi soon, but did not say when he would leave or what route he would take.

A Vietnamese Embassy source here said Tuesday that Richie Allen of the Phillies led the National League in total bases as a rookie last year. He had 38 doubles, 13 triples and 29 homers for a 332 bases.

Kosygin would pass through Peking on his way to Hanoi. A special plane left Moscow late Tuesday night for Hanoi, apparently carrying Kosygin's advance party.

The Soviets announced Sunday that Kosygin would visit Hanoi soon, but did not say when he would leave or what route he would take.

Chorus of More Than 160 to Present Program

Presentation of Randall Thompson's "Testament of Freedom" by a combined chorus of more than 160 voices will highlight Friday evening's joint concert by the Air Force Academy Cadet Chorale and the Kansas State Varsity Glee Club.

The concert will be at 8 p.m. in the Arnold Hall Theatre and is open to the public. Complimentary admission tickets are not required.

Mr. Thompson's work has become a classic male choral group presentation.

The concert program is designed to demonstrate the full range of both groups.

In the opening segment of the program, the Kansas State Glee Club will sing "Sing Praise to Our Lord"; "Crucifixus"; "Happy Are We Met"; "Behold Man" and "Tarentella."

The Cadet Chorale will then sing "The Last Words of David"; "Shenendoah"; "Come Again, Sweet Love"; "Go Tell It on the Mountain" with a tenor solo by Cadet First Class Tom Callies, and "Onward Ye People".

Final selections by the Glee Club will include "Viva Tutti"; "A Roving", a sea chantey, with a baritone solo by Leon Wolfer; "Li'l Liza Jane", baritone solo by Cecil Pearce, "Didn't Our Lord Deliver Daniel", and "Oh! You Beautiful Doll."

The Cadet Chorale will then offer "The Air Force Song" as arranged by E. L. Ladouceur, assistant director of Chapel Music at the Academy, "Summertime", "Can't Help Lovin' That Gal of Mine", and the "Wells Fargo Wagon". A special piano duet also is featured in this portion of the program.

The Kansas State Varsity Glee Club this year is under the direction of Prof. James Hershberger, who is well known throughout the state and out-of-state.

The group averages about 40 performances a year.

All colleges on the campus here represented in the Glee Club by Prof. Morris D. Hayes.

The 60 members are now on a leave of absence, chosen from the 80-member

Glee Club has gained an Apollo Glee Club. More than 400

Eichmann Aide Sentenced

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — A German war crimes court today sentenced Adolf Eichmann's top aide Herman Krumey, to five years at hard labor for complicity in the murder of at least 300,000 Hungarian Jews.

His codefendant, former SS Capt. Otto Hunsche, was acquitted.

After an often stormy trial that lasted more than nine months, Krumey was found guilty of participating in the 1944 deportation of 437,000 Hungarian Jews to the Auschwitz concentration camp where the majority of them were gassed. He was acquitted of a supplementary charge of extortion.

Krumey, 60, an ex-SS lieutenant colonel and Eichmann's deputy, once offered to trade the Western allies one million Hungarian Jews in return for 10,000 trucks. His offer was rejected.

Hunsche, 54, an ex-Nazi officer and Gestapo agent, was liaison officer between Eichmann's special bureau "for the final solution of the Jewish question" and the Hungarian regime of Admiral Horthy.

The state prosecutor had asked for life in prison for both men. Western Germany has no death penalty.

Throughout the trial, Krumey maintained he did not realize the transport he arranged would take the Jews to a death camp. He said he signed papers as a bureaucrat and did not realize the effect they would have. That's enough tissue, they claim, to handle 1.6 billion sneezes.

READY FOR BIG BLOW

NEENAH, Wis. (UPI) — The estimated 104 million Americans due for a cold next year may find it little comfort, but the paper industry is ready.

Nearly 3 million tons of tissue paper will be produced, more than enough to blanket all the sneezes in the nation. One company, Kimberly-Clark (Kleenex), maintains 3,000 tons of tissue in one of its plants here.

That's enough tissue, they claim, to handle 1.6 billion sneezes.

When drilling the Dad Joiner leases on which the discovery well of the great East Texas Field gushed over the derrick top my thoughts strayed to my pastures.

Gold mining seemed inflation and deflation proof. The most substantial strike in years was Jumbo, near Winnemucca, Nevada, where in 1936 two prospectors discovered gold at the grass roots.

George Austin, owner of a small desert store, bought their claim for $500 cash and $10,000 in gold which George soon pawned out and paid.

Former President Hoover had inspected and approved Jumbo.

My buyer contacted Austin and paid $250,000 and a royalty up to $10 million. We accepted title subject to a trivial lawsuit: a friend in Reno told Austin a party in a distant city would lend him $500. Austin never contacted the party, his friend died, but when Jumbo became famous the party filed a grubstake claim alleging he held $500 to loan to Austin.

Rich at shallow levels, the mine when deepened did not produce in the quartz. The minimum annual royalty must total $100,000 after two years. Confronted with the expense to either enlarge the ore mill located on a creek 5 miles away or build a larger mill at the mine and pump creek water up the mountain to it, we relinquished Jumbo to Austin suffering a small loss.

We had to settle the fantastic claim and paid $15,000.

All is not gold that glitters. Beware of grubstake claims. White house favorite Harry Dexter White was soon to outlaw goldmining in the U.S.

Nearly 3 million tons of tissue paper will be produced, more than enough to blanket all the sneezes in the nation. One company, Kimberly-Clark (Kleenex), maintains 3,000 tons of tissue in one of its plants here.

That's enough tissue, they claim, to handle 1.6 billion sneezes.

The game was scheduled for Tuesday, but because of a scheduling error, Middletown's team traveled to Seaford and — you guessed it — Seaford showed up at Middletown.

The team buses passed each other on the highway — but nobody waved.

The towns are about 60 miles apart.

Agricultural Planning Group to Meet

FORT COLLINS — Community leaders from many Colorado counties will meet in Denver Feb. 10-11 to discuss problems of statewide significance.

The community leaders are delegates to the annual State Agricultural Planning Committee meeting to be held at the Brown Palace Hotel. Specific subcommittee responsibilities will include a review of problems surrounding the home and family, safety, health, water resources, public education, 4-H Club leadership, livestock marketing, and weeds.

The Feb. 10 program will open with discussion on recommended reorganization of the State Agricultural Planning Committee. The reorganization is being considered to broaden and strengthen the committee's advisory role in dealing with rural, urban, and suburban problems.

Colorado Governor John A. Love will continue the morning session at 9:30 a.m. with comments on "Implementing the Economic Opportunity Act in Colorado." Questions and discussion will follow the Governor's address.

Other first-day activities include workshops for Community leaders, a 4-H Foundation luncheon at noon, committee meetings, and a 4-H recognition banquet at 6:15 p.m.

The keynote address at the 9 a.m. Feb. 11 session will be delivered by Stewart G. Case, extension community development specialist at Colorado State University. Case will discuss "Colorado Communities at the Crossroads."

Activities for the remainder of the Thursday session include committee reports and a business meeting.

The Colorado State University Extension Service cooperates in this annual planning meeting.

CALADIUMS

Your outdoor garden will be enhanced by the varied beauty of caladiums by starting dormant tubers indoors in late winter or early spring. Plant several caladium tubers two or three inches apart in clay bulb pans set in a pebble or vermiculite-lined tray, which can be heat-treated by setting it over a radiator to insure 70 to 80 degrees bottom heat. Tubers should sprout within four weeks, to go outdoors when spring temperatures top 60 degrees.

Farm Prices Dip to 74 Per Cent of Parity

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Prices for farmers received for crops and livestock rose 1 per cent during the month ended Jan. 15, the Agriculture Department reported Friday.

This left farm prices 3 per cent below those of a year earlier. The department's monthly farm price report showed that the cost of production and living supplies purchased by farmers rose 1 per cent during the month.

Farm costs at this time are 1 1/2 per cent above those of a year ago and at a record high. A comparison of farm market prices and farmers' costs showed prices in January averaged 74 per cent of parity. This compares with 75 per cent in mid-December and 78 per cent in mid-January a year ago.

Parity is the price needed to put the value of commodities sold by farmers on a par with the cost of things they must buy — theoretically a fair return for their products.

BUYS TICKET — Montie Montgomery and Rye Weber, third from left, 1965 president of the Pikes Peak Rangerettes, discuss the drawing being held by the girl's riding club. The drawing for a billfold worth $10, will be held Feb. 28, and proceeds will be used to finance new uniforms for the Rangerettes.

Drawing Slated By Pikes Peak Rangerettes

A drawing for a hand-tooled personalized billfold worth $10 was chosen Saturday by the Pikes Peak Rangerettes as a way to finance new uniforms for the group. Tickets can be obtained, for 10 cents each or 25 cents for three, from any member of the Pikes Peak Rangerettes. The drawing will take place Feb. 28, and the winner does not have to be present.

Also discussed at the Saturday meeting were possible styles of the new uniforms. Recently elected officers of the group are: Rye Weber, president; Ann Whitney, vice president; Lynn Ecklund, secretary treasurer; Kay Brooks, assistant secretary treasurer; and Gretchen Liddle, publicity.

Plans are being made for the Rangerettes to join the Pikes Range Riders and their wives for a dinner at the Valley-Hi Country Club.

The Pikes Peak Rangerettes is a group of young horsewomen sponsored by the Pikes Peak Range Riders. They perform intricate drills on horseback for rodeos throughout the state, and member of the community: 51.9 per cent listed quality product; 41 per cent said the dealer knows something about his product and its proper use; 37.2 per cent said because he handles a national brand.

Those farmers who believed there was some difference in fertilizers listed differences in dealers as one item along with such things as price differences, differences in ease of storing, or differences in fertilizer flow through their spreader.

Speaking to the 13th annual Colorado Fertilizer Conference at Colorado State University, Constant said a recent Iowa State University study projects a 34 per cent greater crop output in 1960, as compared to 1960, and estimated livestock numbers will be 52 per cent above those of 1960.

"These increases in production will mean new opportunities for the fertilizer industry, but they will bring new challenges, too," Constant said. Farm operators today generally don't have to be sold on the value of fertilizer, he said, but selling is anything but simple because of the extremely stiff competition.

Fertilizer marketing is primarily a local function, Constant said, because soil types and plant food needs vary so greatly, even within small areas. A single national product is not feasible, but must instead be geared to the needs of local areas.

This means advertising and marketing are extremely important to the local fertilizer dealer, and will be even more important in the future. Constant said fertilizer advertising, to be effective in this day and age, must point out to prospective buyers how the product will benefit them.

"Surveys conducted by our organization show 70 per cent of farmers believe there is no recognizable difference in performance between different brands," Constant said. And, he added a recent survey indicates 20 per cent of the farm operators don't buy fertilizer continuously from the same dealer.

"These attitudes and practices show the need for effective advertising and marketing," he said. The surveys indicated that 57 per cent of buyers visit the dealer to buy fertilizer, 5 per cent use the telephone, and only 14 per cent wait for the dealer to come to their farm.

The role of advertising is to pre-sell these buyers, Constant said, to bring them into your leadership. He listed these six values of advertising: (1) aids distribution of both standard and new products; (2) motivates dealers and distributors — the key to sales; (3) presents needed information to dealers and to farmers; (4) actually creates sales — moves more merchandise; (5) perpetuates sales — helps prevent brand switching; (6) helps maintain a more even sales volume — fertilizer is sold throughout the year.

Constant said farmers returning survey questionnaires listed these reasons for buying from the same dealer: 76 per cent said competitive prices; 75 per cent said good service; 65 per cent listed respect for their local dealer as a person and reputable.

Local Discussion Program on Beef Offered by CSU

"Colorado Beef in Perspective," a discussion program open to all interested persons, will begin at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the County Office Building, El Paso County Extension Agent Forest McWilliams has announced.

"How Prices Are Determined" will be the topic of this first meeting in the series on the beef industry sponsored by Colorado State University.

The other discussions in the series will be: "Changing Beef Production Patterns," Feb. 16; "Futures Trading in Cattle," Feb. 23; "Imports," March 2; and "Where Do We Go," March 9. Each meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. on a Tuesday.

Purpose of the discussion program is to help pinpoint important economic, marketing, foreign trade, and structural problems of the beef industry, and to provide an opportunity for interested persons to discuss these problems with their friends and neighbors.

In 1963, cattle accounted for about one-half of the total cash farm income in the state. Added to this is income from assembling, processing and distributing beef. There are almost 300 cattle marketing operations in the state, as well as 90 packing plants and 11 prepared meat product plants. There are several thousand retail grocery stores and restaurants selling beef in the state. Livestock by-products are also an important industry.

World Price Cut On Hard Red Winter Wheat

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Department in a move to make U.S. wheat competitive in the overseas market Thursday knocked 10 cents off the world price of hard red winter wheat.

Since Monday, the department had reduced the export price of hard red winter wheat by a total of 20 cents. Other grades of wheat have similarly reduced through export subsidies.

Robert G. Lewis, deputy administrator of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, said Thursday's action was not related to price cuts that the Canadian Wheat Board made Monday and Tuesday.

These cuts were matched by the United States on the same days. The Canadian cuts were announced shortly after that country sold 26 million bushels of wheat to Red China.

Lewis said action reflects an adjustment to market prices of competitive wheats grown in Australia, Argentina, and Europe, chiefly France. He said the price level of wheats in those countries had been below that of the United States for quite some time.

Wheats in those countries are more like U.S. wheat than Canadian wheat, he said. Canadian wheat generally is of better quality.

Farm Bureau Plans Meat Marketing

Necessary steps for the development of a full-scale statewide marketing program for agricultural products in Colorado were approved by the board of directors of the Colorado Farm Bureau at its January meeting held Thursday in Denver.

Thus there were only seven test cases, four of which were seeded for approximately one hour each. Had the season been normal, probably some 20 storms could have been included in the research program, the scientists said.

Since last summer's work involved such an exceptionally small test sample, it is doubtful that analysis of the data will permit any valid conclusions to be drawn from the tests, they added.

Two smaller storms were also seeded, but on a non-random basis. In one instance, precipitation began first from the seeded portion of the storm. Clouds in the seeded portion of the storm grew higher and faster than those in the non-seeded portion.

Broadmoor to Host 1967 Cattlemen's Meet

The Broadmoor Hotel has been chosen as headquarters for the 1967 convention of the American Cattlemen's Association, Mayor Harry Hoth has announced.

Mayor Hoth wished to thank the many officials of the Chamber of Commerce, the Pikes Peak Cattlemen's Association, and the many others who worked to bring the convention to the Pikes Peak Region.

The Colorado Springs invitation won out over others extended from Phoenix, Houston, Las Vegas and Jackson, Miss.

This year's convention is in Portland, Ore., and the 1966 convention will be in Kansas City.

Surplus in Colorado Wheat Almost Gone

DENVER (UPI) — The chairman of the Colorado Wheat Advisory Committee reported Thursday that nearly all of the $5 million bushels of surplus wheat on hand in the state four years ago was gone.

Wayne Foster, the chairman, attributed the drop to development of export markets made possible by improved freight rates and continuation of the area's drought.

Foster told of the surplus decline in an annual report to the Kern County Farm and Home Advisory Board.

The age and origin of a vase or bowl can be shown by burning it over a flame and observing the color of the smoke.

Northern Colorado Stock Tour Planned

George Reynolds' feed lots and look in on Nate Patton's yearling steers and heifers on feed. Patton is also from Canon City.

Later, at 6:30 p.m., the cattlemen will have dinner with the Longmont Sirloin Club, a cattle feeders group, and their wives will have dinner with the St. Vrain Valley Cowbells.

Arrangements are being made for the Canon City group to stay overnight in Longmont.

Sunday, the Fremont and Custer County cattlemen will have breakfast with the agricultural committee of the Longmont Chamber of Commerce, and at 8:30 a.m. will tour the Longmont Co-Operative feed mill.

At 10:30 a.m. the group will tour Coor's feed lots and observe the Colorado State University experimental research projects, involving Colorado cattle being compared with southern cattle from Texas, Alabama, Louisiana and Mississippi. Bob Shoemaker, Nate Patton, and the San Isabel Ranch have cattle in the test.

The last stop will be at 2 p.m. when the ranchers will tour Safeway's distribution and packing plant in Denver.

Svedman commented that the trip would keep the cattlemen busy and believed the time spent would be worthwhile. He added that follow-up meetings with members of the Longmont Sirloin Club and others met on the trip, were hoped for by his wife.

Leaved Thieves Tapping Underground Water

FORT COLLINS — Vegetative "thieves" are tapping ground water supplies along the Arkansas River basin in southeastern Colorado. Estimates indicate they're "stealing" some 66,000 acre-feet of water annually.

The civil engineering section at Colorado State University's Agricultural Experiment Station recently made a study of "phreatophytic" growth along the Arkansas River, from La Junta to Las Animas.

They found this growth has increased since 1936 and 1947, when earlier aerial photographs were made. Phreatophytic trees and shrubs now cover nearly 3,700 acres along this part of the Arkansas, compared with 2,565 acres in 1936 and 3,000 acres in 1947. The engineers estimate phreatophytes now cover some 25,000 acres between Pueblo and the Kansas line.

What is the solution?

"We haven't determined answers yet," Bittinger said. "Cutting down all phreatophytic vegetation wouldn't completely solve the problem, because with the high water table, some water would be lost by evaporation."

One answer might be the substitution of more beneficial plants, such as alfalfa or others. But as more detailed studies are made of phreatophytes, agronomists and other scientists will be better able to come up with control measures and alternative methods for using the land and the underground water," Bittinger concluded.

GRAIN CARRYOVER DOWN

The total carryover of four feed grains and wheat at the end of the 1964 crop marketing year will be down about one-third from the peak surpluses at the end of the 1960 crop marketing season, the Record Stockman reports. The carryover total will be the smallest for any year since the end of the 1956 season. USDA officials said recent commodity programs have made possible a substantial cut in stocks toward levels adequate for national security.

Heart Fund Benefit Planned by Alpha Phis

The annual Heart Fund Bridge Benefit sponsored by the Pikes Peak Alumnae of Alpha Phi Sorority was planned at their regular meeting last Thursday. The benefit will be held at 1 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 27 at the chapter lodge, 1060 Wood Ave., in the Colorado College campus.

A large part of the proceeds of the benefit will be given to the El Paso County Heart Drive. Local Alpha Phis will also be collecting on Heart Sunday in the residential areas.

Mrs. Al Metzler is the general chairman of the benefit. Members of the planning committee are: Mrs. Vincent O'Brien and Mrs. Herbert Porter, table decorations; Mrs. Bill Marshall, chairman of the food committee; Mrs. A. E. Groves and Mrs. Alton C. Christensen, assistants for the food committee; Mrs. Richard Dambman, tickets; Mrs. Eugene McCleary, hat show; and Mrs. Romaine Moeller, publicity.

Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Gerald Hughes, 633-4662 or Mrs. Metzler, 473-3045. Anyone interested is invited to attend.

Table decorations this year will be potted plants of ivy which will also serve as prize for high table. Hats will be modeled during the afternoon as has been done in the past. They will be modeled by alumnae and active members.

The various alumnae chapters in the United States, Canada and Hawaii have a long history of activity in local heart fund drives. Over $750,000 has been raised by Alpha Phi since cardiac aid was adopted as its philanthropic project in 1946. Other recipients of their heart work are: Stanford University, Calif.; University of Minnesota School of Medicine, Minneapolis; Herrich House, Bartlett, Ill.; and Children's Hospital, Los Angeles.

Early Reading

NEW YORK (UPI) — Children can and should begin reading instruction at home or in kindergarten as early as three, reports Waston Washburn, president of the Reading Reform Foundation.

"The years between three and six probably are the most favorable for the teaching of reading," he said. "It is a tragic irony that for 40 years most 'experts' did their best to prevent any reading instruction 'till children reached six or seven, thus wasting three or four of the most precious years of potential mental growth."

BSP Chapters Announce Candidates for Queen

Queens from each of the sixteen Beta Sigma Phi chapters will receive their crowns during the City Council's annual Valentine Ball Saturday at the Shrine Club, 6 S. 33rd St., scheduled to begin at 9 p.m. During intermission Mrs. Gene Hastings, president of the Beta Sigma Phi City Council will introduce last year's queen, Mrs. Buell Shaffer, who will present to each chapter queen heart for her Beta Sigma Phi charm bracelet. Queens and Mrs. Shaffer will also receive flowers.

Those being honored as chapter queens at this year's ball, according to Mrs. Kenneth Raker, president, Preceptor Alpha Chapter, are as follows: Miss Elvonne Eiford, Preceptor Alpha; Mrs. Fred W. Walker, Xi Upsilon; Mrs. Don Williams, Xi Gamma Delta; Mrs. James Finn, Xi Eta; Mrs. Mildred Marovich, Xi Beta Mu; Mrs. Ivan Sperry, Xi Alpha Lambda; Mrs. Otis McKee, Epsilon Rho; Mrs. Mike Thompson, Epsilon Lambda; Mrs. Edward Weathers, Epsilon Gamma; Mrs. Harry E. Myers, Delta Lambda; Mrs. Ray Kiger, Beta Xi; Mrs. Yates Williams, Jr., Beta Delta; Mrs. Dee Wells, Alpha Sigma; Mrs. Faye M. Shafer, Alpha; Miss Betty Brenek, Phi Rho; Miss Donice Fajen, Phi Alpha Delta.

Proceeds will benefit Multiple Sclerosis. Tickets can be obtained by calling Mrs. David J. Heffernan, 635-3628 or by purchasing them at the door.

Cupid and company will decorate the Shrine Club. Tables will be covered in white with hearts gaily splashed here and there. Hearts will also hang from graduated streamers decorating the walls. Setting the theme for all the decorations is a heart with a history. It has become a Beta Sigma Phi tradition to have the six by six foot heart as the center of attraction for the Valentine Ball. It's carefully stored after each dance and a year later, brought out and refurbished for the next year's event.

Decorating committee chairman for the ball is Xi Alpha Lambda Chapter, president, assisted by Mrs. Joe G. Dabney.

Early reservations for the ball are: Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hope, Mr. and Mrs. W. Pettinger, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Holland, Miss Elvonne Eiford, Mrs. Robert Funk, Miss Ruth Biggs, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph DeJesus, Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth Raker, Mrs. Gordon Horn, Mrs. Lois A. ## $9 Million Price Placed On Drainage Correction

A $9 million price tag Tuesday was put on correcting the most critical drainage deficiencies in Colorado Springs by M.R. Pearce, city director of public works.

He spoke during the fourth annual Institute of City Engineers in Boulder.

Pearce said it would cost an additional $3 million for stream work.

Pearce told the engineers that the subdivision ordinance provides "every drainage basin in the city shall be self sufficient and that each parcel of land within the drainage basin shall pay its proportionate share of the cost of ill drainage facilities within the basin."

"Our ordinance is unique in one respect, he added, "it requires everyone within a given basin to contribute proportionately equal to the basin's development."

"Our ordinance corrects no existing drainage deficiencies nor will it do anything for existing fully developed areas."

"It was designed to prevent the compounding of our problems as we grow and for its designed purpose. We think it works very well for Colorado Springs."

Pearce said the ordinance is administered as follows:

(1) A hydrologic engineering study is made of a given drainage basin, and a master plan developed. After the run-off data is computed and facilities are determined, a unit drainage fee or cost per acre is finally determined.

(2) Before final approval of the plat of a subdivision, the owner or subdivider must, at his own expense, prepare a detailed drainage plan of his subdivision, including plans, specifications and cost estimate for all drainage facilities necessary for the control and drainage of all surface waters within his subdivision. The plan must conform with the master drainage plan for the basin.

Pearce said the subdivision drainage plan and cost estimate are reviewed by the public works director. Upon his approval, the plat of the subdivision may be given final approval by the City Council.

(3) After construction has been completed of all drainage facilities, the cost is computed and if it exceeds the unit drainage fee, the subdivider is entitled to credit for the amount of the unit drainage fee exceeded. Should the opposite occur, the drainage basin fund would keep the excess of cash.

Should a credit be due the subdivider, it is payable only when money is available and will be paid without interest. Should money never be available for refund due to spiraling prices or any other reason, the city is in no way obligated to reimburse the subdivider for facilities built.

(4) Before any money is refunded to subdivider for improvements, the basin drainage fund must first repay the city the cost of engineering studies. Then the drainage fund will refund the cost of constructing natural water courses and trunk conduits, after which subdivider will be refunded their normal drainage improvements within the limit of money available.

(5) Should a subdivider have credits for a completed subdivision, he may elect to transfer those credits to another tract of land within the same drainage basin instead of paying the unit drainage fees for this property.

(6) After completion and acceptance of any drainage facility, the city is responsible for maintenance.

The institute, which runs through Thursday, is sponsored by the University of Colorado Department of Civil Engineering, Bureau of Continuation Education and Colorado Municipal League.

G. J. Weiss, city engineer for the City of Colorado Springs, was scheduled to preside at a Wednesday luncheon meeting and preside at a Wednesday afternoon session dealing with zoning and subdivision regulations.

Students Receive Cash Awards From Foundation

A report Jan. 29 at the annual meeting of the directors of the Sacha Foundation showed that cash awards varying from $50 to $1,200 had been made to 59 students.

Recipients of these awards, 18 men and 41 women, are attending 19 colleges, universities, and nursing schools of their choice.

The purpose of the awards is to enable Negro students to obtain college educations in their chosen fields, and in cases of unusually able students, the Foundation assists in the financing of graduate work.

Each spring, the Foundation's directors accept applications for financial assistance from prospective Negro students in Colorado. The Sacha Foundation address is 418 First National Bank Building, Colorado Springs.

PLASTIC RIDIRON
NEW YORK (UPI)—Football games soon may be played on plastic fields, according to Chemical Engineering magazine. In the Northwest section of the country where rain turns fields into quagmires, a polyurethane material is being tested on parts of the playing field to see how they withstand the wear and tear of both football and the weather.

QUESTION: Even though I am a Christian, I often become depressed. Where in the Bible can I find help? —L. C.

ANSWER: "As the days, so shall the strength be." This promise is found in Deuteronomy 33:25.

"Cast thy burden upon the Lord, and He shall sustain thee: He shall never suffer the righteous to be moved." (Psalm 55:22). Many of the Psalms give us words of comfort. Read the 42nd. Read and learn the 121st. Say this over and over when you need encouragement. I'm sure you know the 23rd Psalm. This has brought consolation to more people than any other words which have ever been written. Make it your own, saying:

"The Lord is 'my' shepherd. I shall not want.

He maketh 'me' to lie down in green pastures: He leadeth 'me' beside the still waters.

He restoreth 'my' soul.

Then turn to the Gospels and read the Good News. It is for you. Learn Matthew 11:28-30. You are fortunate to know that in your curs of need you should turn to your Bible for help. These are only a few of the passages that tell of God's love and care. Pray as you read, and you'll be able to say with Paul: "I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me." (Philippians 4:19).

Australia Will Send Troops to Malaysia

CANBERRA, Australia (AP)

— Acting Australian Prime Minister John McEwen announced today after a day long Cabinet meeting Australia will send combat troops into Malaysian Borneo.

He said the 3rd Battalion of the Royal Australian Regiment of about 1,000 men, now stationed in Malacca, would move to Borneo and a crack paratroop command of an army special air service unit would fly from Australia to Borneo.

Spring Fashion
Offensive Is Being Launched

By ROSETTE HARGROVE
PARIS (NEA) — "Operation Charm" is the key to the spring offensive being launched by Paris fashion designers. Madame will recapture her femininity—waistline, rounded bosom and hips, the whole bit.

The couturiers have settled the question of where to wear pants. All but Courreges say only at the beach, on the patio or at home. Courreges, who predicts that women will soon wear trousers around the clock, sticks to his guns, but he is fighting the battle alone.

In the collections to be shown beginning Jan. 25, all the designers declare they have abandoned the understated, nakedly simple lines which have so long prevailed. Finished are the chemises, shifts and tunics which once hung from the shoulders as from a clothes hanger.

In their place, suit skirts will flutter, sleeves will be flattering and imaginatively shaped. There will be much use of diaphanous fabrics and the surefire sex appeal of transparent effects will be highlighted.

The "My Fair Lady" and Toulouse-Lautrec influence will be in the floppy picture hats worn at an acute angle.

Skirt lengths will remain just above or just below the knee to suit the individual silhouette and age.

Suits will follow the soft trend with brief cardigan jackets revealing peekaboo blouses.

Marc Bohan at Dior, putting the finishing touches to 180 models says, "Women today are far less interested in revolutionary styles. What they look for is elegance." He goes along with the full skirt.

His colors are combinations of beige and white, navy and green, pastels for afternoons and every shade of yellow for evening.

Jacques Esterel (the man who shaved his mannequin's head last season) says his collection is beamed at the jet age woman for whom he has created a comprehensive wardrobe which can be packed into one suitcase.

His silhouette is a fitted one from neck to hipline, but skirts will swing free. Leading color here is amber.

Pierre Cardin says he has created his spring collection for the happy, carefree woman, with much use of soft crepes which cling to the figure.

Gerard Pipart at Nina Ricci explains, "You must reject everything that you loved during the past three years."

He will show pleated skirts with suits and swirling skirts for cocktail and evening dresses.

Jacques Heim has put his money on a new version of the princess dress.

Jules-Francois Crahay for Lanvin is under the thrall of "Fair Lady" and his collection is a triumph of what is known in couture jargon as the "flou" or fluffy style.

He highlights navy for daytime and frosted pastels for evening.

Andre Courreges alone will show trousers for every occasion, but, he stressed, "I have also created a number of the more conservative dresses."

"I have built these around my ideal of the young modern woman—tall, slender, sportive. They are easy fitting with mobile skirts."

Chanel has always made women look like women—and she will again.

When the curtain rises on Paris in the springtime, all will be soft and subtly sexy.

CHANGE THEORY

SALT LAKE CITY. Utah (AP) — Experiments with mental patients and children show that releasing anger on punching bags, or with toy guns in the case of children, does not mean that a person's aggression has been relieved and that he will be less inclined to fight in the future. The analysis was made by Dr. Lincoln D. Clark, associate professor of psychiatry at the University of Utah College of Medicine.

In fact, he added, "Mental patients who practice with punching bags just have better aim, and children who play with toy weapons have more fight than children who don't." The need that must be satisfied, he said, is removal of any threat to security. People may do this verbally or physically, and according to Dr. Clark, "the humor is much more acceptable."

'Older Person' Succeeds in Teenage Field

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — How could a 48-year-old actor manage to produce a hit record in the teen-age jungle of today's pop music world?

Lorne Greene isn't questioning it; he's just banking the money and enjoying the whole thing.

The amazing success of the record "Ringo" is one of the many pleasant happenstances that have occurred to Greene in recent years.

"Don't ask me about 'Ringo' because I can't figure it out," said the star of television's top-rated hour, "Bonanza." "All I know is that it has already sold over 800,000 copies and that's merely in this country. It's apparently going wild in Australia, too. There seems to be no doubt that it will sell over a million before it's through."

Like many television stars play with identical results.

Greene found himself recording some numbers last year, even though his experience as a professional singer was nil.

"Once in high school in Ottawa I was pushed before the curtains and told to stand for 15 minutes," he recalled. "I sang 'Brother, Can You Spare a Dime?' which dates the era, and the students threw pennies instead. Then at Queen's University in Kingston, Ont., I sang on the campus frolics. I was equally successful."

Among the numbers for the album was one in which he told of the notorious Johnny Ringo and later had to shoot him dead. The recitation nestled among other singing and talking numbers on the album until a Lubbock, Tex., disc jockey plucked it out for a go-around. The response was enormous.

A Dallas jockey heard about the fuss and gave "Ringo" big

Baby Le Roy
Wants to Stay
Anonymous

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Somewhere on a Southern California stands a movie star you'd never recognize — Baby LeRoy erstwhile babe of the bibulous existence of comedian W. C. Fields.

As a roly-poly child star of the then known as LeRoy Winebrenner, was a star at 8 months and a has been at 4.

Today, tanned, lanky, rugged-ly independent and 32, Baby Le-Roy hankers after anonymity — so much so that he moves often, when too many people find out where he lives. Even his mother, who lives in nearby Alhambra, doesn't know the address of his present apartment in San Pedro.

Not that Ron, as he prefers to be called now, is tortured by sad memories of fleeting fame, for he remembers nothing at all of his film career; he was too young. "I'm just indifferent to all that," he says. "When I see the old movies, it's interesting to see myself as a baby, but it could just as well be anybody, not me."

Ron has been a lifeguard for 14 years. He won't say where, because it would make it easier for people to trace him. A few fellow lifeguards know he was Baby LeRoy, but it's an old joke with them and a private one.

Every few years a publicist or fan with a long memory will track down the handsome, lean six-footer on the beach, either for reminiscence or a promotion stunt. Overacker submits willingly enough because, he says,
"It makes them happy, and if it happens too often, I can always get away again."

Overacker got into movies when Paramount decided he resembled French star Maurice Chevalier as a baby, dubbed him Baby LeRoy and starred him in 1933 in "Bedtime Story."

He made eight more films, including four with W. C. Fields.
It was with Fields that Le-Roy's star rose, thanks chiefly to the loathing Fields reportedly had for children. Asked once how he liked children, Fields replied, "Parboiled." Often Fields counseled Baby LeRoy — in films — to "run out and play in the traffic."

"But that was just publicity," says Overacker. "Fields really loved children, and always sent my mother and me a telegram
at Christmas."

Baby LeRoy outgrew his usefulness at 4 and later attempts to revive his career ended in failure.

That has never bothered
Overacker, who says he prefers the freedom he has now. "I've never thought about going back to acting. I don't remember any of it, so I'm not drawn back to it at all. I like being a lifeguard because I'm free."

As for his private life, Overacker is close-mouthed. "I was divorced two years ago, and it's still painful. I have three children whom I see often, and still I come and go as I please," he says. "Nobody followed me, because nobody knows where I am. That's the way I like it."

Guerrillas Extend Operations in China

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) —
The official Chinese Nationalist Central News Agency claimed today that anti-Communist guerrilla operations were extended to the interior of the Communist-held China mainland in the second half of last year.

The agency attributed these details to intelligence sources:

— Anti-Communist guerrillas placed time-bombs on railways in the Canton area in 25 separate missions. Many railway bridges and level crossings were destroyed.

— Six Chinese Communist military depots, along the railway between Canton and Hankow, were blown up by bombs.

— Railway services between Chekiang and Kiangsi provinces were dislocated five times by time-bombs.

— Guerrillas made four attacks on Communist naval transports in the Yangtze River.

FIRE TRUCK SAFETY
HOUSTON (UPI) — For all their tradition and brightness, red fire trucks might not be the safest, Dr. Arthur C. Heinzen of San Jose, Calif., believes.

Heinzen told the International Association of Fire Chiefs that chiefs should think about changing from the traditional red to yellow fire trucks. Or white fire trucks.

"More cars hit fire engines than are hit by fire engines," he said. "It is because drivers do not see them in time."

IN MOSCOW

MOSCOW (AP) — American playwright Arthur Miller has arrived here for his first visit. He will spend two weeks meeting privately with writers in Moscow and Leningrad. His works are well known in the Soviet Union, where his plays have been performed for several years.

CAUSES OF LEAKS
NEW YORK (UPI) — Often the cause of roof leaks lies not in the shingles or roofing material, but in the flashing around chimneys and at gutter edges, according to experts at Allied Chemical's Barrett Division. These should be checked to see that they have not cracked or pulled away from the surface. If they have, they should be repaired immediately or replaced with the new plastic, one-ply flashing.

Fuss With Wife Lands Him in Jail

HARLINGEN, Tex. (AP) — James R. Jones, 49, had a fuss with his wife and that led to his being jailed as a Michigan prisoner escapee, police said Monday. A city detective reported Jones was taken into custody after an angry Mrs. Jones volunteered the information her husband had walked away from a prison work gang in 1936.

"He apparently hasn't even gotten a traffic ticket in the years since his escape," the detective said.

Jones came here as owner of several rides at a carnival. He told officers his home was at Port Aransas, Tex.

Police, who said Michigan For Want Ads Dial — 632-4641, mounted on a mat for posterity.

THE ART WHIRL
HOUSTON (UPI) — Edgar Jones would make every man an artist, for a small fee. Jones set up a do-it-yourself art business on the sidewalk in front of a Houston lounge. His equipment included a box with a turntable inside, paints, paper and backings.

When a person came along with the admission price, Jones would turn on the turntable, setting a piece of paper to whirling at whatever speed the prospective "artist" desire. Then the customer would pour paints onto the spinning paper to his heart's content.

WASHINGTON — There are certain traditional parties that the White House is expected to give each year. These include a dinner for the Vice President, Speaker and Chief Justice, a reception or receptions for members of Congress and a reception for the foreign diplomatic corps. However, when the Johnsons get started they entertain as if there were no next week.

While everyone else in town is still limp from the inaugural festivities, Bess Abel, Lady Bird's social secretary, and her group in the East Wing have been at work on a new round of parties to begin soon — they won't even entertain the possibility that either the President's or Mrs. Johnson's health may interfere.

A black tie dinner for 175 persons will be given in honor of Vice President Hubert Humphrey, Speaker John McCormack and Chief Justice Earl Warren. Hume Cronyn and Jessica Tandy will entertain. The Parties Will March Along Into March

The day after that dinner, Mrs. Johnson will give a tea for the national advisory council of Sargent Shriver's anti-poverty corps. The day after that President and Mrs. Johnson will hold the first of a series of 10 receptions for members of Congress and their wives. The calendar is filled right into March.

Former White House aid Wendy Marcus, daughter of Neiman Marcus President Stanley Marcus, finally arrived in Paris this week, just a year as an usher at John and Mary's wedding and that's where he met Lydia.

Small Business Administrator Eugene Foley has been trying to cut red tape in his agency. He knew the situation had really got out of hand when a loan applicant told an SBA loan processor: "Now that I have completed

all the forms, I've forgotten

what I wanted the money for."

The biographical material on Nicholas Katzenbach, the new Attorney General, omits this romantic detail. Nick was a classmate at Princeton of John Douglas, head of the civil division at the Justice Department. John is the son of Sen. Paul Douglas (D-Ill.). Nick's wife, Mary, were classmates at Bennington College in Vermont. Nick served as an usher at John and Mary's wedding and that's where he met Lydia.

While the President and Lady Bird and a half dozen or so VIPs took to their beds with post-inaugural colds, one visitor who was still whirling about town this week was Maureen Cranston Fieger of Skokie, Ill. An Old School Tie That Has Not Faded

Mrs. Fieger's claim to fame? She is an old Marshall (Tex.) High School friend of Mrs. Johnson and what's more she "made better grades in school" than the First Lady. Apparently Lady Bird has not held it against her, for she sent her a personal letter inviting her to the inauguration with special invitations to "everything."

The U.S. Chamber of Commerce has been trying to line up speakers for its public affairs conference here on Feb. 3 and 4. One of the biggest problems was getting Senators and Congressmen to speak either for or against the Supreme Court reapportionment decision.

The court decided in June, 1964, that representation in state legislatures should be based on population.

Sen. Everett Dirksen (R-Ill.) has introduced a bill to give the states two years before they have to respond to the court's ruling, but for the most part just as soon give the subject a wide berth. They figure it is one of those damned-if-you-do-and-damned-if-you-don't situations. Whoever stand they take they antagonize a large segment of the voters — the rural voters if they are for reapportionment, and the big city voters if they are against it.

Everybody seems to be giving advice these days on the care and feeding of the Washington press corps. Mostly it has been advice, we think, since the consensus has been: "Kill 'em with kindness."

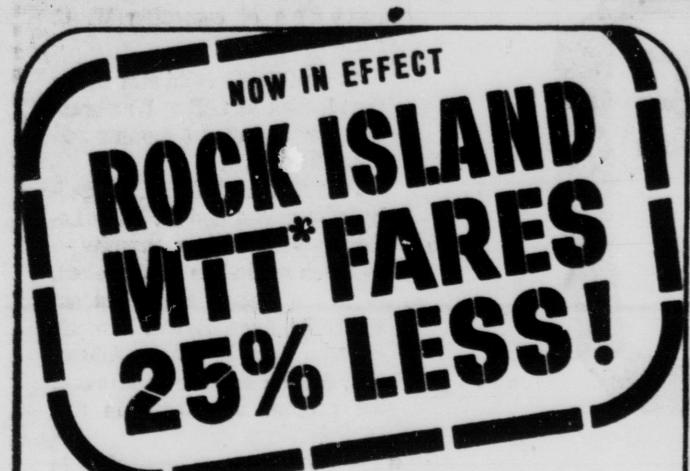

You Can Be Wary Or Just Ever-Loving' Lindy Boggs, wife of Hale Boggs, the Democratic whip of the House, urged wives of the new Democratic members to "let down the barriers and talk to the press because they are good friends." After warning them to keep up on their husbands' legislative programs because reporters were interested in something besides "your favorite recipe," she concluded by counseling them not to be worried "because a lot of people in Washington have survived the press corps."

In the Republican camp there was another prescription. Sen. George Murphy, the new Senator from California, felt he won the right to tell some old hands in the Republican Party how to get along with the press since he had defeated an acknowledged expert on the subject, former Presidential Press Secretary Pierre Salinger.

CC Hockey Team Tangles With Duluth Icers Tonight

A rematch with an earlier conqueror is set for Colorado College's hockey team tonight at Duluth, Minn. in the Tigers final non-league game of the season.

At the start of the season CC lost twice to the U. of Minnesota Duluth Branch (UMD) in a pair of close contests and Coach Bob Johnson's much improved Bengal will be looking for revenge this evening. In the previous meeting, Duluth eked out an overtime 5-4 win and the next night a 5-3 victory to keep CC winless through the first five games of the season.

Although officially this will be a non-league affair, it actually could affect the Western Collegiate Hockey Association play-offs. Should Duluth finish out with a better record than any of the top four teams in the final standings they could replace one of the WCHA teams in the post-season classic.

Duluth currently stands at British Columbia invades Denver.

Should CC manage to at least divide the pair with Michigan Tech this weekend, the Tigers would still be in pretty good shape to make a run for one of the top four final spots in the playoffs. Including the two at Tech CC has eight WCHA games left on the schedule and with a late-season rush they could fight their way up to a 5-0 finish which is generally the breaking point for the post-season play.

Included on the rest of the slate are two-game series with both Minnesota and North Dakota.

North Dakota will be idle this week, but other action will have third place Michigan University playing a home-and-home series with Michigan State, and in non-league play Duluth will visit Minnesota and University of Denver.

North Dakota will be idle this week, but other action will have third place Michigan University playing a home-and-home series with Michigan State, and in non-league play Duluth will visit Minnesota and University of Denver.

Last weekend the Tigers got a big boost to their morale in Friday's 4-2 victory over Denver—the second such win over the Pioneers in the last 26 games. And even at Denver the next night, CC was definitely in the contest all the way before going under 3-1.

Penalties played a key role in the DU series, with all but one of Friday's goals coming when one team or the other was short-handed (including one by CC while they had a man in the bin). And on Saturday, the Tigers had ample opportunity to go way out in front in the first period as Denver won 6 of 6 infractions and were short two men for one minute and 48 seconds—but CC was unable to score.

In all, Denver pulled 48 minutes in penalty time for a new school record, but only 18 of those minutes were they short-handed as the Pioneers had three 10-minute misconduct calls. So actually, DU was short-handed only six minutes more than Colorado College, but that easily could have made the difference.

Senior winger Bob Magie, who will be playing in his hometown of Duluth tonight, continues to pace the Tigers' scoring with 24 points on 16 goals and eight assists. On his heels, however, is his center Warren Fordyce with 21 points on 14 assists and seven goals.

Goalie Bill Howard had two solid games against Denver last week and has established himself as CC's No. 1 man, although the CC coach indicated before leaving Colorado Springs that he may go with little Mike Carter in tonight's game with Duluth. Howard cut a finger on his glove hand in Saturday's test at Denver, but he came back to finish out in great style with 77 saves in the two games.

The Hawks lead the middleweights with a 2-1-4 mark.

Young Terrors Drop to Lowest Record

By MORRIS FRASER
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

Over the preceding weekend, Palmer's basketball record dropped to its lowest point of the year—5-7. But is coach Roger O'Neil planning secret 70-nos-type campaigns to pull the Terrors above the .500 mark? Not any that O'Neil is telling about. Because his Tribesmen are doing better than expected. Palmer lost to Wasson, 53-44, Friday night to the T-Bird stall, then went under to its own icy shooting, 67-32, at Pueblo East on Saturday. In each of these games, O'Neil was playing four sophomores and a small handful of juniors, plus his lone senior. And the ex-Chicago high school coach feels that the young group is making a great deal of progress.

"We missed some shots we should have had against Wasson, and we got into foul trouble too early. But until Wasson went into their stall I thought we had a chance all the way. Our patterns worked nicely."

"And we played well against East. We just couldn't hit. You expect a couple of games a year like that from sophomores and that was one of them."

Palmer stayed fairly close to the Thunderbirds until the fourth quarter, when Wasson put on stall with a 47-41 lead.

Then the Terrors found out for the first time what it's like to be on the receiving end of a tight delay game and couldn't break through.

The Terrors just couldn't hit the first period against East, getting only three points in the period and eight in the first half. They came up with 12 points in each of the last two quarters and O'Neil felt that if they had gained that many the first half, the outcome might have been different.

Palmer's new team is at the point, says O'Neil, where the original starters—four seniors and a sophomore—were after three weeks of practice. The Tribe coach expects the three sophomores, one junior and one senior to show even more improvement over the final six games on the South Central League schedule.

They start off Friday hosting Pueblo South, a team which went down to a 70-59 defeat at Pueblo. Then come the only remaining road dates the following two weeks, against Central and Centennial.

Ed Fitzgerald, the only sophomore to start every game this year, took over the scoring lead for the first time. The 6-5 center, who is showing a deft outside shooting touch, brought his average to 7.8 points a game.

CITY

Tom McCarthy, who has been instrumental in keeping the St. Mary's cagers atop the Denver Parochial League pennant chase, nailed down the City Player of the Week honors for his performance against St. Francis last Friday.

McCarthy sank 25 points to spark the Pirates' key victory over the highly respected St. Francis roundballers, 58-54.

Despite the fact that McCarthy broke his hand two weeks ago, the Pirates' backcourt general has maintained his high-scoring output. McCarthy has scored 226 points in 16 games for an 18.7-points per game and has sparked the Pirates to a 9-1 won-loss record in the DPL.

Others considered for the award were: John Dalton, Harrison; Dave Smedsrud, Widefield; Bill Massarand, Ron Graham, Cheyenne; Bert Spear and Vance Wilson, Academy High; and Dave Ury, Fountain.

Others considered were: John Van Horn, St. Mary's and Jim Smith, Wasson.

MIKE OBER

SUBURBAN

Harrison's 6-4 agile forward Mike Obert, who leads the Will Rogers League individual scoring race with an 18.5-point average, was selected the Suburban Player of the Week by the Gazette Telegraph sports staff.

Obert paced the undefeated WRL leader's two crucial wins last week as the portside-shooting Panther scored 46 points and snatched 38 rebounds in two games. Obert hit for 22 points against then-undefeated Academy High and followed with a 24-point performance against rugged Cheyenne Mountain.

Obert hit 50 per cent of his field goal attempts against Academy High and cleared the boards for 18 rebounds, and he continued his torrid-scoring pace the following night hitting a 9-11 field goal attempts.

Wildcats, Home Jinx T-Birds' Roadblocks

By TOM CUSHMAN
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

On occasions this winter Wasson's Thunderbirds have looked like challengers for the South Central League title but the moment of truth arrives Thursday night when the local club hosts defending champion Pueblo Central at the Palmer Gymnasium.

Wasson's performances have followed no particular pattern so far this season and although the Wildcats will bounce into town as a decided favorite, their task may be anything but a snap. The Thunderbirds have the type of club that could present the Wildcats with one of their sternest tests to date.

Actually Thursday's contest will bring a little extra intrigue into the Palmer Gymnasium as

Dick Westbay's T-Birds are in the process of disproving an age-old theory. According to statistics, home teams are supposed to have a decided advantage in the wintertime sport, but Thunderbirds are doing their best to disprove that idea.

Thus far, in compiling a 3-2 SCL record, Wasson has won three times on the road and lost both starts at home. Last week's Palmer game was actually played on a common floor but technically the T-Birds were hosts. Earlier Wasson had upset Pueblo East in the Steel City's District 60 Gymnasium and whipped Trinidad at the Miners' home base. But the Birds have dropped decisions to both Centennial and South in their only conference starts before the home folks.

This is a factor that would apparently work in favor of the visiting Wildcats Thursday—but there is no way to figure the Thunderbirds. They have been a team that constantly comes up with the unexpected and along those lines this particular contest is attracting a great deal of attention around the league.

Coach Dick Westbay has expressed satisfaction with his team's performance against Palmer last week, but in the same breath he is quick to point out that they are coming along fairly well in the Palmer game," the Wasson coach said.

"Actually, I think our performance was one of our better ones and they (Palmer) certainly played well considering the problems they have had."

Westbay is quick to catalog his respect for Central, a team that has been the conference's most successful in the past three seasons. "They are a solid team," the Wasson coach said, "and they are going to be difficult for anyone to beat. They have good balance and I think that sophomore (Bennie Smith) may be the best player in the conference right now."

Smith, an amazing leaper, is only one of several stars for the Cats. Veteran Dan Kochevar, the lone remaining starter from the team that went to the state finals last year, Jim Wallace, Rick Perryman, and sophomore Terry Snider provide excellent all-around play.

Wasson will counter with another well-balanced club that has junior forward, Randy Stanley, leading the scoring but his average is less than five points per game more than that of the fifth starter, Rick Pettigrew.

Stanley is at 11.7 but guard Jim Smith is at 11.5, Charlie Steel 9.8, Mike Martin 9.0, and Pettigrew 7.2.

Falcon-Cal Western Cage Tilt Today

Initiates Busy Weekend for AFA

This afternoon's meeting between the roster-riddled Falcons of the Air Force Academy and visiting California Western starts a busy schedule at the AFA this week, which will be capped by a second home game by the basketball squad this Saturday night against Marquette.

Coch Bob Spear's Cadets, trying to break a two-game losing streak without two early-season starters allegedly involved in the current cheating scandal, will be out to improve upon their 5-9 record in the 4:15 p.m. game with Cal Western. And then the Marquette contest ends a five-game home stand by the Falcons on Saturday after which the Fliers will be on the road for five of their remaining seven games.

In other winter sports activity at the Academy, at home will be the fencing team and wrestling squad, while all others travel.

Coach Nick Toth's fencing team, undefeated for the season, this Friday will host one of the most colorful schools in the nation—the "Fighting Irish" of Notre Dame. The match, scheduled for 3 p.m., will be held in the Cadet Gymnasium and is open to the public free of charge.

Last Saturday, the Falcons won their sixth consecutive match of the season by defeating the University of Illinois 18-9 to post a 6-0 record for the year. Most responsible for the win were the Falcon Epee men Ed Meschko, Eric Lindemann, and All-American Jock Patterson. All three were undefeated, giving the Air Force a 9-0 mark in that weapon.

Following their 10 consecutive wins last season, the Falcon fencers are now on a 16-meet winning streak.

The Air Force gymnastics team, furthering its claim to the best in the area, cleared two more hurdles on Saturday, as they downed the University of Arizona and New Mexico at the Cadet Gymnasium.

Coach Karl Schwenzieier's squad will travel to the University of Chicago this week for a dual meet in hopes of improving on the 4-0-1 season record. The Falcons have now downed Arizona, New Mexico, Arizona, and New Mexico, Arizona.

toughest obstacle for the Falcons as the Cadets needed final event of the day — to pull out a 60-59½ win over the three-way meet saw the Air Force swamp New Mexico, the Wildcats. The other parts 88-17½, and Arizona down in the high bar, long horse, Lobos, 83-37.

Higgins, who took first places second in the floor exercise and rings, giving him an easy first place in the all-around.

Coach Bob Nugent's swim team found the road to their liking last week as they capped two wins, and will take to the air again this week at Lubbock, Tex., and a Saturday meet with Texas Tech. Last week, the Falcons splashed to a 59-35 win over Arizona State at Tempe, and a 60-35 victory over Arizona at Tucson.

Sophomores Rich Abramson and Steve Seigler were the individual standouts for the Cadets. Abramson took first in both meets in the 500-yard free-style, lowering the school record to 5:23.6 against ASU. Seigler scored firsts against both opponents in the individual medley. Junior Jim Higham was also a double winner in the 100-yard breaststroke, and came within a second of qualifying for the NCAA championships in his specialty.

The Falcons now own a 4-2 record for the season, with wins over Colorado, Arizona, Arizona State and Utah State. Losses have been to Cincinnati and Iowa State.

After a prolonged rest period of almost a month, the AFA ski team climbs into harness again this weekend for the University of Utah Invitational scheduled for Feb. 5-7 at Park City, Utah.

In their last competition, the Western State meet at Crested Butte, Jan. 8-10, the Falcons finished fifth behind the best ski teams in the west, but enjoyed several outstanding performances by Falcon competitors.

Being counted on again this weekend for continued achievements are Lynn Luebke, Kent Waterman, Jerry Allen, and Scott Duncan.

Coach Arne Arnesen's Air Force trackmen make their 1965 debut this Saturday in an indoor track meet slated for 1:30 p.m., with Colorado State "U. in Ft. Collins.

Among the familiar names scheduled for action this weekend are Ken Clark (shot put), Bob Lambert (high jump), Tom Brandon and Jim Law (triple jump), Bob Foley (mile), Jim Murphy (two miles), Dale Stovall (440), and in the hurdles two members of the Air Force's record-setting hurdle relay team — John Puster and Dave Dick.

Because of the unusual dimensions of the CSU fieldhouse, the relay team will run an eight-lap relay, and the high and low hurdles, as well as the dash, will be 50-yards.

Last year, the Falcons defeated Colorado State U. while posting a 1-1 record in dual competition. This year, however, Coach Arnesen feels that the evenly-matched teams might go as far as the final event — the relays — before a winner is decided.

Other meets scheduled for the Falcons this year include the Michigan State Relays (Feb. 13) the Ohio State Invitational (Feb. 19), the University of Chicago Championships, being held for the first time at Detroit University (March 13-14), and the Western Michigan Relays (Mar. 27).

The impasse seemed to have broken somewhat today when the Japanese baseball commissioner, Yushi Uchimura, pledged he would "bring about a friendly settlement."

Uchimura's statement followed the report that his American counterpart, Ford Frick, had warned that the controversy could lead to a cessation of all baseball agreements between the two countries.

Murakami, who joined the Giants last season and posted a 1-0 with a 1.80 earned run average in nine relief appearances, has signed 1965 contracts with both the Giants and his former Japanese club, the Nankai Hawks.

Uchimura said he had been conducting his own investigation into the case and had planned to write Frick when it was completed. He went on to emphasize that "whatever happens we must not destroy our friendly association with American baseball."

Frick made his first official comment on the case in New York Tuesday and said the Hawks' signing of Murakami was in violation of the agreement they made with the Giants.

"I have all the documentation on the case," said Frick, "and it shows that the Giants purchased Murakami. The Giants sent $10,000 to the Japanese for Murakami — the check has been cashed and endorsed by their people. Now the Japanese are apparently putting pressure on him to stay over there."

The introductory handicap was the first event in the six-day tournament. The class championships were scheduled for today.

"This is in no sense a threat

Iowa State

Puts Three Wins on Line

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL
IOWA STATE takes a three-game winning streak to non-conference foe Drake Wednesday night in the only game involving a Big Eight team. Drake boasts a five-game winning streak.

Higgins, who took first places second in the floor exercise and rings, giving him an easy first place in the all-around.

Coach Bob Nugent's swim team found the road to their liking last week as they capped two wins, and will take to the air again this week at Lubbock, Tex., and a Saturday meet with Texas Tech. Last week, the Falcons splashed to a 59-35 win over Arizona State at Tempe, and a 60-35 victory over Arizona at Tucson.

The Falcons now own a 4-2 record for the season, with wins over Colorado, Arizona, Arizona State and Utah State. Losses have been to Cincinnati and Iowa State.

There were no games in the Big Eight Conference Tuesday but injuries made marks at Kansas State and Missouri.

The Tigers returned from a two-game losing streak through Oklahoma to find a knee injury to Don Early Jan. 9 will sideline the veteran forward for the remainder of the season.

Early, a 6-foot-5 senior forward who was a regular Bengal for three years, was a top rebounder and had averaged 7.0 through Missouri's first 11 games.

At Kansas State, coach Tex Winter announced that the Wildcats' top scorer, Jeff Simons, would be out of action for at least 10 days.

Simons injured his left foot in last Saturday's 91-67 defeat to Iowa State. He had averaged 13.4 and was the only K-State player to start all of the 16 Wildcat games to date.

Schollander Earns Award

For Olympic Swim Feat

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
NEW YORK (AP) — Don Schollander, winner of an unprecedented four swimming gold medals at the 1964 Olympic Games, is the youngest athlete ever to capture the James E. Sullivan Memorial Award as the nation's outstanding amateur performer.

Schollander, an 18-year-old Yale freshman, outpolled 15 other Olympic gold medalists Tuesday for the coveted award, presented annually by the Amateur Athletic Union for sportsmanship and achievement. The Lake Oswego, Ore., youngster previously was named Male Athlete of the Year by The Associated Press.

A panel of 739 sportsmen, writers, broadcasters and Olympic athletes — largest in the 35-year history of the award — gave Schollander 352 first-place votes and a winning point total of 2,161. Billy Mills, the Marine lieutenant who scored a stunning upset in the Olympic 10,000-meter run, finished a close second with 99 first-place ballots and 1,044 points.

Schollander, who became the first swimmer ever to take four gold medals in a single Olympics with individual firsts in the 100 and 400-meter freestyle events and berths on two winning relay teams, will receive the award at a luncheon in New York Feb. 21.

He succeeds John Pennel, who won the 1963 award after becoming the first pole vaulter to clear the 17-foot mark. Golfer Bobby Jones was the first Sullivan winner in 1930.

Bob Hayes, the Olympic 100-meter dash champion from Florida A&M, and Hayes Jones of Detroit, the high hurdles winner at Tokyo, were third and fourth in the voting, respectively.

The Sullivan Award committee selected 16 finalists — all Olympic winners — from a long list of nominations.

Other finalists, in order, were: sprinter Mike Larrabee, swimmer Donna de Varona, pole vaulter Fred Hansen, distance runner Bob Schul, swimmer Sharon Stouder, shot putter Dallas Long, speed skater Terry McDermott, boxer Joe Frazier, basketball player Jerry Shipp, sprinter Edith McGuire, diver Bob Webster and swimmer Dick Roth.

Two Champion Miners In NCAA Grapple Meet

It looks as though some 40 to 50 colleges will be represented at the national NCAA College Championships wrestling to be held March 11 through 13 on the Colorado School of Mines campus.

National champions present will include: Howard Gangstad, 123-pound NCAA college champ from Mankato State College in Minnesota who also won second place in the University Division; Dave Linder, 130-pound college division champion and Rich Hickman, 147-pound college division champ, both from the host school, and Tim Teem, 130-pound Pacific Coast champion, of California State Polytechnic College.

Among other top colleges represented will be the State College of Iowa, South Dakota State College, Cornell College and Colorado's Western State College.

This is the second time that Colorado Mines has been host to a national wrestling event. The 1960 NAIA National Championships were held on its campus, and ended with the host team in second place behind Lock Haven Teachers of Pennsylvania.

Completion last fall of its new College Union Building gives Mines better facilities than ever before for entertaining the visiting grapplers.

The NCAA Championships are now in their third year. It is probable that most College Division winners will go on to try their luck in the NCAA University Division tournament at Laramee two weeks later.

American Tobogganers Seek Title

DAVOS, Switzerland (AP) — Armed with revolutionary metal sleds — but still without steering wheels — American tobogganers opened practice runs today for the World Luge Championships with high hopes of breaking the Central European monopoly on the rapidly developing sport.

More than 100 men and women from a dozen nations are scheduled to compete next week in the dangerous sport on the Davos track, a 1,250-meter slide twisting through ice and snow.

"We have great hopes for the new sleds," said U.S. team manager, M. Sgt. Bob Cole of Harrison, Ark., before the Americans went down on their first run. "They have performed very well in trial runs."

Standard sleds, or toboggans, are made mostly of wood but Ray Fales, a member of the U.S. team and a mechanical engineer from Detroit, has designed all-metal sleds for the Americans.

Luge, which was on the Olympic program at the Innsbruck, Austria, Winter Games last year for the first time, is different from bobsledding in that the sleds do not have steering wheels. All the break and steering is accomplished with the heels and weight of racers sitting upright with legs outstretched.

The most experienced members of the U.S. team is SP.4 Buddy Feltmann of Sun Valley, Idaho, who placed 11th in the Winter Olympics. In all the American team numbers nine but there are no women on the team this year.

Evans, 56, said Tuesday he will stay on as a teacher in the physical education department, but will conclude 25 years at the helm of the basketball team this spring.

A 1932 graduate of the University of Illinois, Evans served as Vermont football coach from 1940 to 1951.

No reason was given for his decision.

Students Write Congratulations To President

By FRANK S. JOSEPH
CHICAGO (AP) — Myrna Sue Parker's second-grade class has written its best wishes and congratulations to newly inaugurated President Johnson.

"I hope you have a nice time playing with your dog," wrote Laura Belle Cole.

"Just image in all the work you have to do," said Cathy Sprague's letter. "I hope you and your family are very happy together."

Cynthia Lawler told the chief executive: "I watched your program win (sic) you picked up your dog. You looked funny."

"Timmie Cook didn't beat around the bush. "I watched you on T.V.," he wrote. "You was great and you looked good."

The federal government owns 769,300,000 acres of land in the 50 states, or more than one out of every three acres.

Miss Parker, 26, their brunt ite teacher, said in an interview Monday world events are so important that even young children should learn how government works.

"It would have been wrong to let such an opportunity slip by," she said.

The children have been learning since September. Miss Parker said they hold elections for class president and vice president every two weeks.

They use a secret ballot, she said. They vote by raising their hands and hiding their faces against their desks.

When school ended, Michael Peters stayed behind.

The freckle-faced, red-haired lad motioned the newsman near. He whispered: "If you see the President, would you ask him to send me his picture?"

Their letters indicate that some of the pupils realize what the world is all about.

"I hope you will keep peace for America," Gene Errel wrote. "I hope you will stop all wars."

Timmie and the 33 other second graders at the William C. Goudy Public School watched the inauguration Jan. 20 on television. Afterward they drew pictures of the ceremonies and wrote letters to the President.

The class knew all the inaugural answers when a reporter visited the school Monday.

Laurie Steinknagel told Miss Parker the President had pledged during the inauguration

"to get absent children who play hooky back in school."

Bobby Jewell thought one of the clerics who blessed the coming presidential term was "a Catholic minister."

And one child said the President had promised "to give money to help the poor and make America even better than it is."
